Freight train derails

FRESNO (UPI) — Eighteen cars of a 62-car Southern Pacific freight train derailed 10 miles north of Fresno Saturday. There were no injuries.

An SP spokesman in Fresno said a broken rail caused by a washout from recent storms triggered the derailment.

Traffic on Highway 99, which runs adjacent to the tracks at that point, was being detoured in the area because of possible damage to a gas main at the scene.

The derailment occurred just after 9 p.m. The SP spokesman was unable to say what the derailed cars were carrying.

Services set for S. Paula educator Randall Bryden

Memorial services for Randall A. Bryden, 75, Santa Paula, will be Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the Santa Paula First Presbyterian Church, with Dr. R.T. Bousman officiating.

Mr. Bryden died Saturday at home after a sudden illness. He was born Oct. 31, 1907, in Upland, Calif., and was a 48-year county resident. He was graduated in 1934 from the University of Southern California, where he competed in gymnastics.

He set the world record in the rope climb and almost won a spot on the U.S. Olympic Gymnastics team in 1932.

This was despite his having been afflicted with polio at age 5, which left him with limited use of his legs.

He had the fastest time in the Olympic rope climb competition, but was left off the team because his disability required him to employ a climbing technique that was considered unorthodox.

He began the gymnastics program at Santa Paula High School and was a teacher and coach there from 1935 until his retirement in 1972.

During that period, the Cardinals became a gymnastics powerhouse, winning six CIF Southern Section championships, and finishing second four times.

Mr. Bryden was past president of the Santa Paula Lions Club, and had received an honorary life membership from the Santa Paula High School PTA. He served on the Santa Paula Parks and Recreation Commission, and was active in March of Dimes and Easter Seal campaigns. Mr. Bryden was also a member of the Santa Paula First Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife Maxine; son Robert of Ojai; grandsons Kevin and Aaron, both of Ojai; and two nieces.

The family requests memorial donations be made to the Santa Paula First Presbyterian Church Scholarship Fund, 121 Davis St., Santa Paula 93060.

Services are under the direction of the Robert A. Stetler Funeral Chapel in Santa Paula.

VENTURA CALIFORNIA

Banker Patsy Taylor, 54, dies at Ventura hospital

Banker Patsy D. Taylor, honored in October as Ventura's 1982 Businesswoman of the Year, died early today at Community Memorial Hospital, Ventura.

Mrs. Taylor, 54, Ventura, was assistant vice president and manager of the real estate division of the Ventura-based American Commercial Bank (ACB), a job she assumed Jan. 1. Before that, she was assistant manager of the bank's Mills Road office.

Mrs. Taylor was honored last year as the 1982 Businesswoman of the Year by the Ventura Business and Professional Women's Club.

She was a director of the Greater Ventura Chamber of Commerce for three years. In 1979, she was vice president in charge of the chamber's community improvement division. She was president of the women's division of the chamber in 1976.

Mrs. Taylor apparently died from a widespread bacterial infection in her blood, though the official cause of death has not yet been determined, a spokeswoman for the hospital said today.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Ted Mayr Loma Vista Chapel, Ventura.

Mrs. Taylor became ill within the past week, experiencing chest pains, headaches and congestion, said ACB President Harry Maynard. She slipped into a coma shortly after entering the hospital, he said.

"It's a great shock. This has all been so sudden. She was really a great asset, not only to the bank, but to the community," Maynard said.

Mrs. Taylor was born Jan. 26, 1929, in Evansville, Ind.

Patsy Taylor

She worked as a management analyst for the Air Force in San Bernardino County before starting her banking career in 1970 with the Bank of California as a real estate clerk.

She was transferred in 1973 to bank's Ventura branch, which was later bought by ACB.

Mrs. Taylor was active in numerous community and professional organizations.

She was a member of the United Way allocations committee in 1982 and was a member of the board of directors of the Ventura Youth Employment Service.

She also was active in such organizations as the California Bankers Association, the National Association of Bank Women, the PTA and Trinity Lutheran Church.

She is survived by her husband, Gene, who owns Gene Taylor Insurance and is a chamber director, and their son, Ross of Ventura.

Charles Hoffman, 'Foster Park sage,' dies at age 94

Charles Hoffman, a long-time Casitas Springs and Foster Park resident who fought the state when it evicted him to build Highway 33, died Tuesday after a brief illness at a Ventura convalescent hospital. He was 94.

Cremation will be arranged by the Neptune Society. No services are planned.

Mr. Hoffman had lived in Casitas Springs since 1967. He moved there after the highway construction forced him to move from his home in the former town of Foster Park.

He was born in Detroit in 1889 and had been a county resident since 1946.

Mr. Hoffman was a well-known figure around the two towns. In 1967 he unsuccessfully fought the state over the price of the house he was forced to give up.

He was sometimes known as "the Sage of Foster Park" for his outspoken views and habit of putting signs with political messages outside his shop for passing motorists to read.

Mr. Hoffman began his career in 1903 when he started work for the fledgling Ford Motor Co. He was one of 14 original Ford employees.

He worked as a tool grinder for several auto companies during his life.

Mr. Hoffman is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Robert Waldo of Casitas Springs; brother Norbert Hoffman of Michigan; sister Margaret Pembroke of Florida; four grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, donations to the Salvation Army are requested.

Services for Mr. Douglas were held last Saturday at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Sacramento.

He was born Dec. 8, 1914, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and had been living in Sacramento for five years.

He was a 45-year Ventura County resident, and was manager of the Piru Recreation Area from 1958 until 1977, when he lost his contract to operate the facility after two men drowned in the lake while fishing from a small boat.

Relatives of one of the dead men collected signatures on a petition calling for Douglas' removal, claiming that the drowning resulted in part from his negligence. Douglas denied the charges and called for a ban on the use of alcohol at the lake, claiming that the boaters had been drinking prior to the accident.

Douglas' insurance was canceled and the United Water Conservation District subsequently refused to renew his contract.

In addition to operating the concessions and recreational facilities at Lake Piru, Mr. Douglas was an avid hydroplane racer. His craft, the Coral Reef, purchased in 1964, was only the second unlimited-class hydroplane to have its home base in California.

He is survived by his brother Durward Douglas of Tulare; daughters Wendy Langston and Raney Fitzhugh, both of Sacramento; and four granddaughters.

Ventura clothier Henry Gruen dies after cancer fight

By Robin Sjogren

Henry Gruen, a German immigrant who owned Scott's Apparel in Ventura and was a leader in the fashion industry, died today at 77 at his Camarillo home.

Scott's, the high-fashion women's clothing store he ran for 35 years, will be closed Friday in his memory.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Joseph P. Reardon Funeral Chapel, Ventura, with Rabbi Edward Kiner officiating. Burial will be at Ivy Lawn Memorial Park, Ventura.

In addition to his business, Mr. Gruen was also active in civic affairs and was a leading supporter of the arts in Ventura County.

Mr. Gruen, president since 1947 and later owner of Scott's Apparel, had his roots in the fashion business.

He was born June 10, 1906, as Heinz Eichengruen in an upstairs room of the largest department store in Gelsenkirchen Buer, Germany. His parents, Benno and Johanna Eichengruen, owned the store and lived above it.

As a youth, Mr. Gruen had an impressive school record and was on his way to becoming a doctor when Nazism made life difficult for the Jewish family. His parents eventually lost their store and fled to Brazil.

Mr. Gruen later left Brazil and ended up in California. He changed his name and later wished he hadn't.

He became a garment salesman and then opened a small clothing store in Los Angeles. When he lost his lease on that store, he became a partner to Morton Springwater, who had established Scott's Apparel.

The store was named after Springwater's mother-in-law.

Mr. Gruen often said finding Ventura was a "marvelous accident."

Once located at Main and Oak streets in Downtown Ventura, Scott's is now in the Buenaventura Fashion Center.

It is the largest privately owned women's store between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, and is known for its personalized service.

While celebrating his 35th anniversary with the store earlier this year, Mr. Gruen talked about how his medical ambitions had to be set aside.

"Just think," he quipped, "if I'd become a doctor, I'd be getting women out of their clothes. Instead, I've spent a lifetime putting clothes on them."

Mr. Gruen must have had a special knack for the job because women have been flocking to his high-class store for years.

He counseled that a retailer must keep alert to the pulse of America's buying public.

Mr. Gruen learned from his parents that if he cared about his employees, they would care about his business. A number of his employees have been with the store for a quarter-century.

He also learned from his parents how to be charitable.

Mr. Gruen once gave employee Trudy Akers a trip to England so she could visit her mother, whom she had not seen for 17 years.

He and his wife Rose were married in 1939, the wedding coming just three weeks after they met.

The Gruens have two daughters, Irma Wolfson of Mission Hills, Kansas, who has two children, and Marsha of Santa Monica, who works for the Wickes Corp.

Mr. Gruen was active in community affairs and a supporter of the arts.

He was a board member of the Ventura Symphony Association and the Ventura Concert Series, a member of the Temple Beth Torah, the Downtown Lions Club, the Elks Club, and a director of the Greater Ventura Chamber of Commerce.

For many years he coordinated the Mother of the Year awards for the Greater Ventura Chamber of Commerce.

Nationally, he was an advisory member of the Brand Names Foundation of America, and won that organization's Retailer of the Year award in 1963. He later won it a second time.

Mr. Gruen, who had fought a long battle with cancer, remained active in the store until his death.

He had set up a trust under which the family continue to own the store. Store vice presidents Don Michel and Frances Diamond will operate the business, Michel said this morning.

The family has asked that any memorial donations be made to the Young Artists Fund of the Ventura Symphony Association, the Temple Beth Torah building fund or the American Cancer Society.

Venturan dies in logging truck crash

A Ventura resident was killed when he lost control of a logging truck and crashed on a National Forest Service road near Mariposa Tuesday, his first day on the job.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Victor J. Mansfield, 56, was traveling about 60 mph when his loaded logging truck crossed the center line on a turn, hit the embankment and flipped. Mansfield was thrown out of the truck and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Officers said there were no skid marks, indicating that Mansfield had not hit the brakes before the crash. They reported that the load was properly secured and there was no brake failure. They are awaiting the results of a coroner's investigation before speculating about the cause of the accident.

Mansfield was born Dec. 28, 1926, in Ventura, and had lived in Ventura for the past 28 years. He lived with his daughter, except in the summer, when he would work in different parts of the state as a logging truck driver.

In addition to being a truck driver, he had been a park foreman for the city of Ojai for 12 years.

Ex-county undersheriff J. Gordon Bowers dies

Funeral services for J. Gordon Bowers, 81, former Ventura County undersheriff who spent more than 50 years in law enforcement, will be Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Ted Mayr Loma Vista Chapel, Ventura, with B. Lothair Green of the College United Methodist Church of Ventura and the Poinsettia Lodge No. 633 officiating. Burial will be at 3 p.m. Thursday in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Bowers died at home Sunday after a long illness. He was born Nov. 25, 1901, in Blockville, Ontario, Canada, and was a county resident for 22 years, coming from Inglewood.

Mr. Bowers began his law enforcement career in 1921. After serving briefly in the corrections division of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department, he transferred to that department's detective division and worked his way up to chief of detectives.

In 1961, when Bowers was nearing mandatory retirement age in Los Angeles County, former Ventura County Sheriff William Hill chose him for undersheriff here.

The newly elected Hill made room for Bowers by reassigning Undersheriff Volney Cummins, who held the post under the previous sheriff, William Suytar. Hill then had the post removed from its civil service classification and appointed Bowers.

Bowers was the first member of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department to graduate from the national FBI academy, where he was a classmate of former Ventura Police Chief Strevell Taylor.

When Bowers reached Ventura County's mandatory retirement age of 70, the Board of Supervisors twice voted to grant him one-year extensions.

In 1971, then-state Sen. Bob Lagomarsino pushed a special bill through the Legislature that rescinded the retirement age for the undersheriff in a county where the 1960 population was between 199,000 and 200,000. The only such county was Ventura.

Tues., July 26, 1983

The Associated Press singled out that episode in a report on special legislation.

When Bowers was feted on his 50th anniversary in law enforcement top law officers from three counties turned out and he received congratulatory messages from then-Gov. Ronald Reagan, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell and Sen. Alan Cranston.

Bowers retired from the Ventura County Sheriff's Department in 1973.

Mr. Bowers was past master and charter member of the James Kew Masonic Lodge of Inglewood. He was a mason for 55 years, and a member of the Scottish Rite and the Al Malaika Shrine of Los Angeles.

He is survived by daughter Sandra Drollinger, and grandchildren Michael, Lisa and Laura Drollinger, all of Long Beach.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want.
 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
 He leadeth me beside the still waters.
 He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
 for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
 thou anointest my head with oil;
 my cup runneth over.
 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life:
 and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Martin Mears

Graveside services will be Tuesday for Martin Mears

Oil executive Martin Mears, a former member of the County Planning Commission and Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO), died Tuesday at the age of 90 at the Ventura Convalescent Home in Ventura after a brief illness.

Born Aug. 22, 1893, in Dubuque, Iowa, he was a 55-year Ventura County resident, coming here on New Year's Day in 1928 with his late wife, Martha.

Mr. Mears worked for the Getty Oil Co. in Ventura County for 47 years, retiring in 1958.

He began his oil career in 1911 near Bakersfield with Sterling Oil Co., which eventually became Getty Oil.

Upon his retirement from the oil industry, Mr. Mears began a career during which he would try to organize the growth of the city that was expanding rapidly partly because of the business the oil industry was bringing to the area. His involvement led to his affiliation with the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO).

Mr. Mears was one of 12 oil pioneers honored earlier this month by the county's oil industry.

He became involved in many civic activities and organizations, including serving on LAFCO from its inception in 1963 until his retirement in 1976.

His civic career included holding such positions as the foreman of the Ventura County Grand Jury in 1942, county planning commissioner from 1958 to 1963 and a member of the County Board of Zoning Adjustment from 1961 to 1963. He served on the County Civil Service Commission in 1960-61.

He also served as the president of the Ventura Chamber of Commerce in 1936-37 and was the oil and gas commissioner for Ventura County from 1934 through 1940.

He was a member of the Ventura Masonic Lodge and the Scottish Rite, and was LAFCO chairman for 11 years.

He was also an organizer of the Petroleum Barbecue Association and the Petroleum Production Pioneers.

Graveside services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Santa Paula Cemetery, Santa Paula, with the Rev. Dr. R. Thomas Bousman officiating.

He is survived by son Harold of Santa Paula; four grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

Philip Moreton

Rugby booster Philip Moreton dies in Ventura

Memorial services for Philip E. Moreton, 85, Ventura will be held at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 10 in the Ventura Church of Religious Science, Laurel and Main streets, Ventura.

Mr. Moreton died Monday in Ventura after a long illness. He was born June 14, 1898, in northern India. He had been a Ventura resident for 16 years, coming here from Santa Monica.

Mr. Moreton was instrumental in popularizing the game of rugby in the United States, and was featured in a recent article in Rugby magazine, which called him "Philip Moreton: Rugby Pioneer."

"He helped revive the sport in the United States in the years after World War I by organizing an American tour for the Cambridge University team. He told Rugby magazine that in his search for sponsors of the tour he wrote 'over 100 letters and talked till I was blue in the face. Nobody had money, least of all for a sport played by Ivy Leaguers and Wall Street ghoulis.'"

Mr. Moreton was educated in Scotland and had entered Cambridge just before taking a commission in the British Royal Engineers during World War I.

He came to the United States after the war to attend Cornell, but was sidetracked in New York, where he became active in the theater. He rose to manager of the Norah Bayers Theater on Broadway. He later entered the advertising business and worked for several New York agencies.

He was a member of the Poinsettia Veterans' Club and the Ventura Rugby Club. He was also a regular writer of letters to the editor in the Star-Free Press.

Civic leader Dick Hughes services will be Monday

Funeral services for Ventura businessman Dick Hughes will be at 11 a.m. Monday in the Ojai Presbyterian Church, Ojai, with the Rev. Lawrence Fisher and the Rev. Paul Fisher officiating. Burial will follow in Ivy Lawn Memorial Park, Ventura, with the Poinsettia Masonic Lodge officiating.

Hughes, 59, died at his Ojai home Friday of a heart attack.

He was active in numerous civic and historical organizations. He served on the Ventura County Grand Jury from 1981 until July, and was its foreman during the last year he served.

In 1980, Hughes was president of the Greater Ventura Chamber of Commerce. "He was an outstanding chamber president," said Jim Barroca, executive vice president.

Hughes was born Charles Richard Hughes on March 18, 1924, in Fresno. His family moved in 1930 to Ventura, where his father sold cars.

He attended St. Catherine's Academy, Ventura, and graduated in 1942 from Villanova Preparatory School in Ojai. He enrolled as a business major at Fresno State, but left a year later to join the Navy. He was commissioned as an ensign in 1944.

Hughes married the former Norma Case of Fillmore in 1947.

Hughes worked on car lots as a boy, but did not go into the business immediately. He spent more than a decade in the construction materials sales business before joining his father in an automobile business.

Hughes and his father in 1957 failed to win the right to open an Edsel dealership in Ventura, something Hughes later said he regretted.

"I think with my father's brains, we could have made money with it," he said.

Hughes's trademarks included a butch haircut, which he once said he kept "because I'm too damn lazy to comb my hair every morning," and a cigar in his mouth.

Hughes was selling British-made cars when in 1966, following a test drive, decided that he would sell Toyotas. Hughes owned Hughes Motor Co. (Hughes Toyota) until 1980, when he sold the dealership to Tony Haller. The business still bears his name.

In 1977, he was chairman of the National Automobile Import Car Committee, which represents import car dealers nationwide.

Hughes never kept his business open on Sundays, even though many of his competitors were open.

"I'm not a religious fanatic about selling on Sundays, but I don't want to work on Sunday's and I don't, and I'm not going to ask anybody to do something I wouldn't do," he said.

Hughes was active in county historical groups. He was a member of the board of directors of the Ventura County Historical Society, the Ojai Museum and Historical Society and the Ojai Civic Association.

Other organizations he belonged to included the Kiwanis Club and the Poinsettia Masonic Lodge. He organized tournaments for the Ventura County Golf Association.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by daughters Margaret Westrom and Nancy Krumpschmidt and grandsons Eric Westrom and Kent Krumpschmidt, all of Ojai.

The family requests that in lieu of flowers, donations

Dick Hughes

Alan P.D. Dexter

The body of Alan Pershing Dreeben Dexter, 65, Oxnard, was cremated Tuesday. No funeral services are planned.

An actor who was variously known as Alan Dreeben, Alan Dexter and Alan Dreeben Dexter, he died early Monday while driving himself to an Oxnard hospital after suffering chest pains. Investigators said he died of a heart attack.

A seven-year resident of Oxnard, he was born in Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 22, 1918. He moved to Ventura County in 1976 from Van Nuys. He served with the Army during World War II.

An actor who had a wide variety of roles on Broadway and in television and the movies for more than 40 years, he originally worked under the name of Alan Dreeben but in recent years he had himself billed as Alan Dexter, said Iggy Wolfington, executive director of the Actors Fund of America Western Region in Los Angeles.

Wolfington said Dexter's Broadway credits include roles in such plays as "Dark Hammock," "The Assassin," "Hamlet" and "Julius Caesar" during the 1940s and very early 1950s.

In films, Wolfington said, he performed in "It Came From Outer Space" in 1953, "Forbidden" in 1954, "Time Limit" in 1957, and "The Enemy Below," also in 1957.

He also appeared in a 1965 Broadway revival of the hit musical "The Music Man" and worked for several years as a night club comedian and variety performer on the East Coast, Wolfington said. He also performed on a number of network television series, but Wolfington said he did not have a list of those credits.

He is survived by wife Betty.

Arrangements were under the direction of Griffin Brothers Funeral Chapel, Camarillo.
