MERCED County, California
The 1890 Great Register of Voters

As you know, the 1890 federal census was lost to us in a fire early in this century. The CALIFORNIA STATE GENEALOGICAL ALLIANCE is working on a project to put together the 1890 voter registration for the state of California. The MERCED COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY was approached to do Merced County list and submit as part of the state project. This booklet is the information contained in that list, plus the occupations and naturalization information that is listed on the original.

The Great Register of Voters is on microfilm at Sutro Library in San Francisco and is available through your local California library through inter-library loan. The microfilm is also at the Genealogical library at Salt Lake City, Utah. The originals still exist and can be viewed upon request at their location. The original handwritten registration was done by the county voter registrar and is stored in the Merced County Voter Registration Office in the Merced County Record Office on M Street in Merced, California. The original handwritten list was organized and alphabetized, then printed by a local print shop, and submitted to the State of California as part of the voting procedure. These voter registrations, that were submitted every two years, are in a bounded book form, stored in the basement of the California State Library, on the west side of the Capitol building in Sacramento, California.

Voter registration is different in 1890 than it is today. Every even numbered year, a person wishing to vote in the November election had to register for the election, even if he had voted in the previous election. So in the following booklet you will see a date in the last column on the right. This indicates the date the person went to the voter registration office to register. In the precincts you can see clusters of dates, suggesting to me that the registrar of voter probably traveled to outlying precinct, the registrar probably made himself available on specific days, at locations so voters didn't have to make the trip to Merced.

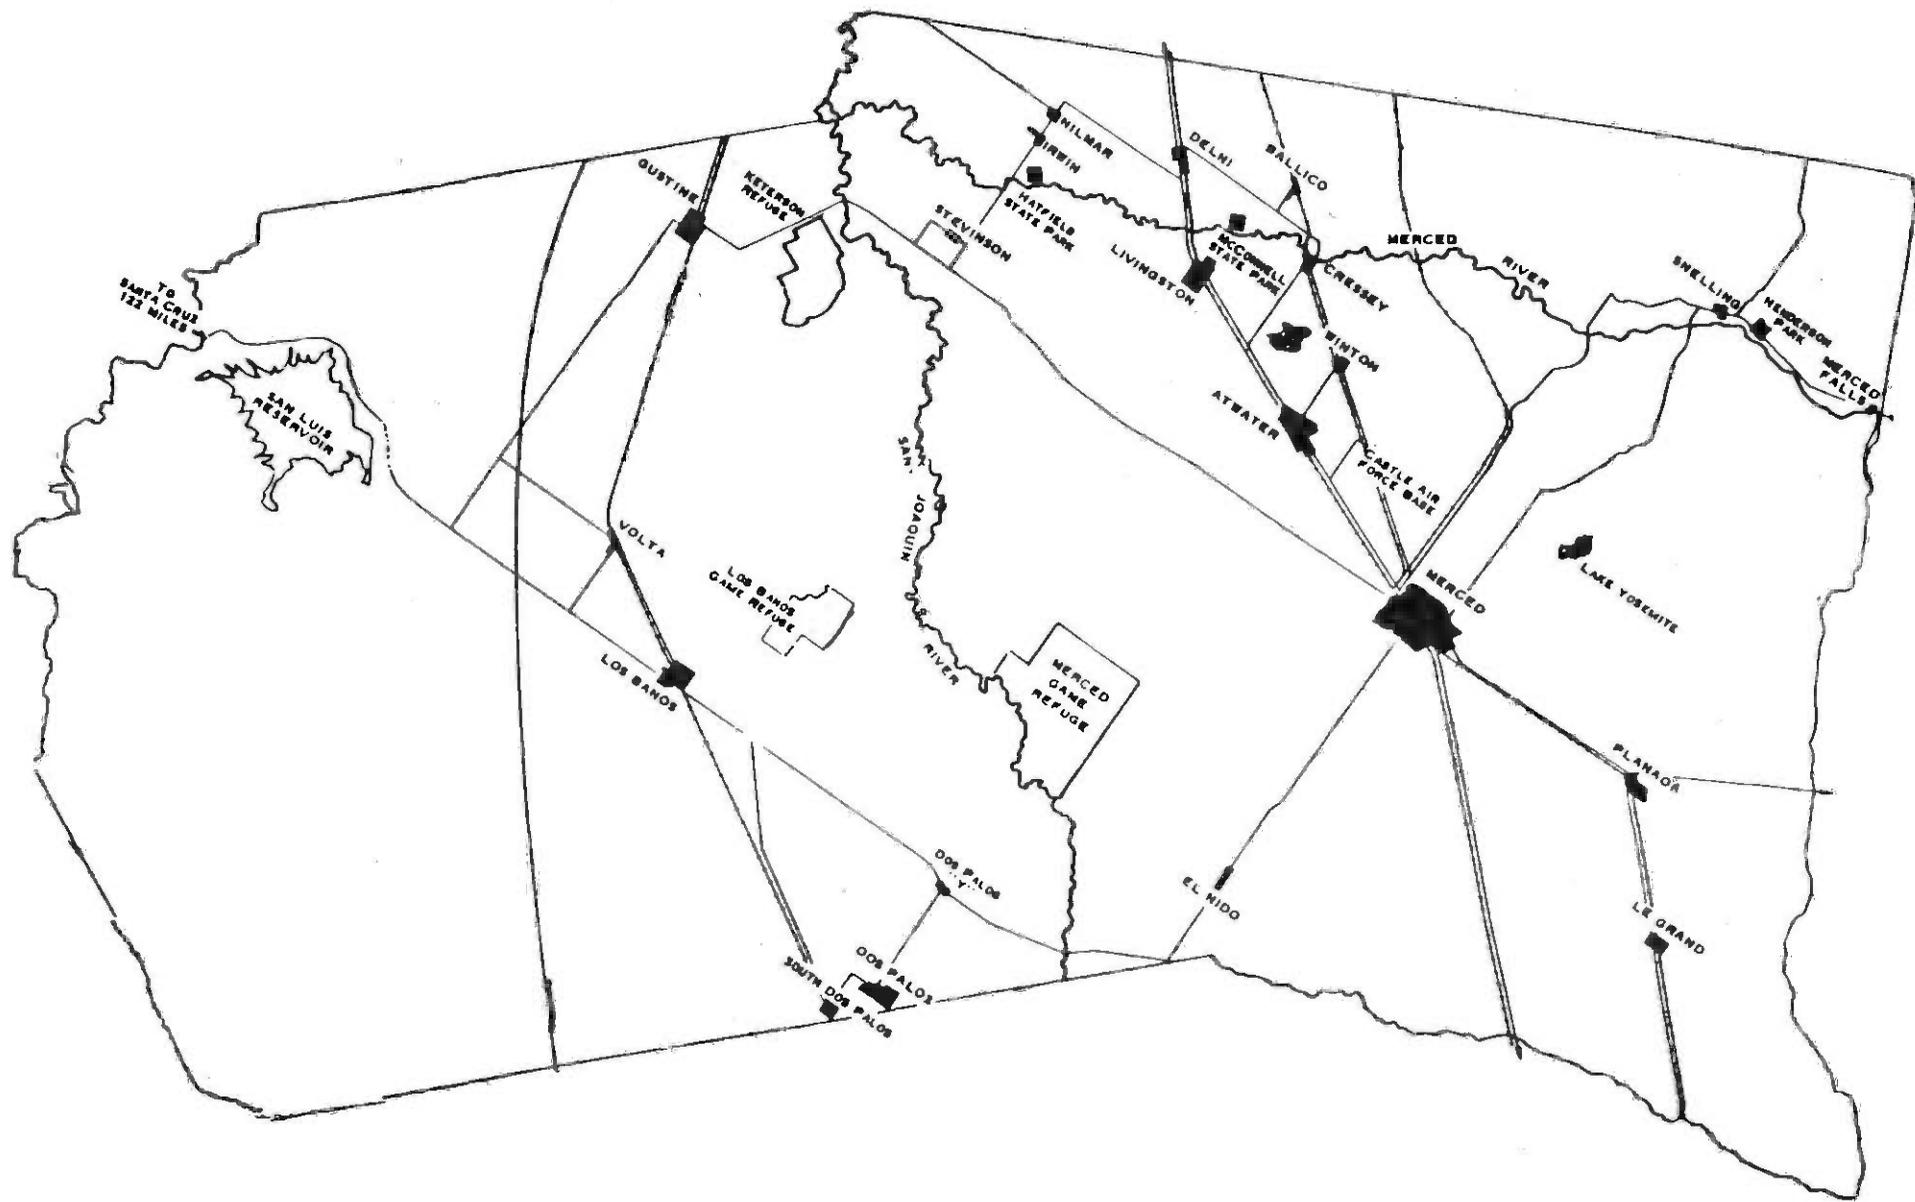

An error was found in the printed State copy for Los Banos precinct, the names beginning with the letters P - Z was missing. The state copy has two pages of names with A - P, but is missing the the rest. To complete the precinct, I went back to the handwritten copy to complete the form. The finished product was checked against both the handwritten and printed form.

If you are doing genealogy research, and your subject is in the 1890 list, you will want to look through the later lists because beginning in 1892 the registration asked many question, including physical characteristics. These characteristics were probably asked to help identify individuals and try to prevent voter fraud, but for us these are a wealth of information about our ancestors. The voter list begin in 1866 and continue to 1909.

Column grouping in the booklet:
