"REDMAN--A suicide was enacted at half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon in the upper story of a house at the corner of Sacramento and Waverly Place. It was the act of C.B. REDMAN, a young man not more than twenty five years of age. His name will suggest a woman of the same name, who three months ago, chased him from the same building where he died yesterday, and followed him into the street with a pistol. It was his wife, whom he seems to have loved, yet had been a public woman for a long time. Since that occasion, a divorce has resulted. Yet at times he followed her and they still quarreled. Yesterday he called at the place to see her, but she had changed her room, having moved up the street. Notwithstanding, she was not there and entered an unoccupied room. He had not been there long when the report of a pistol was heard, and he was found on the floor fast bleeding to death from a hole in his heart he had fired

"REED--SHOCKING CASE of SUICIDE -- A man by the name of Charles REED, said to be about 30 years of age, committed suicide at San Francisco on Sunday, under the following circumstance: He was walking at the time, and, when about the middle of Pacific wharf, shot himself through the body, with a large English pistol. The ball entered the left breast, near the heart, passed through the lungs, and lodged near the shoulder blade. It did not touch the heart. After the shot, the unfortunate man was observed to walk about 50 yards. Being spoken to by several persons who ran to his assistance, he said: "Leave me alone, I can walk well enough," and shortly afterwards expired. The body was conveyed to the Coroner's office, where a post-mortem examination was held. A witness stated that the deceased came from New Orleans to California about 5 years ago; and failing to obtain work, became low-spirited."

well known confectioner, on Montgomery street, near the Mechanic's Pavilion, about 10 o'clock A.M., while passing down a small ladder leading from the roof of her residence -- where she had been engaged hanging out clothing to dry -- to the roof of a rear addition, slipped and fell. "REVILEN--MAN DROWNED - A man named August REVILEN, who left San Francisco on the steamer 'Cornelia' Wednesday evening, with the intention of coming to this city, fell overboard and was drowned. The particulars, as related to us by an officer of the 'Cornelia' are as follows: When the boat had reached a point about 12 miles out from San Francisco, just this side of what is known as Red Rock, REVILEN got upon the railing of the forward deck upon which he sat down. Losing his balance by some means shortly afterward, he fell backward into the water, passing directly under the wheel. The alarm was immediately given, the engines stopped promptly, both the 'Cornelia's' life-boats were lowered and manned at once, and a thorough search was made for the unfortunate man, but without avail. It is supposed that he was struck by the wheel and instantly killed. REVILEN was coming to Stockton under an engagement to assume the position of chief cook at the Lafayette Restaurant. through the mining towns in the early days of California, giving light dramatic entertainments. Her vocal and dramatic talents made her a universal favorite; and many will also remember with what demonstrations her plaintive little song "Do they miss me at Home" was always received by her audience of bronzed and rugged miners, in whose hearts it never seemed to fail of awaking a warm responsive feeling, that was often followed by the most fabulous showers of silver which fell at the feet of the little cantatrice. "Miss Sue ROBINSON made her first appearance in San Francisco on the boards of the old Union Theater, on Commercial street, then under the management of James STARK, in October, 1855. She afterwards played a season at the American Theater; then removed to Oregon with her family; was there married to C.H. GETZLER, and lived many years in retirement. She subsequently resumed her professional duties there. She has since filled the leading business at Piper's Opera House, at Virginia City; at Maguire's Opera House, San Francisco; and at the Metropolitan Theater, in Sacramento City. At the time of her death, Miss ROBINSON was under engagement to proceed to Chicago, to fill the leading business, next season, at McVICKERS's new theater. "ROSENBAUM--At about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, the badly decomposed remains of August ROSENBAUM, were found near the foothill county road, on the east side of Napa Valley, 2 miles south of St. Helena. The story of his disappearance and death is a sad one. He was a son of F.H. ROSENBAUM, a well-known glass dealer on Market Street, San Francisco, who has a beautiful home one mile north of St. Helena. August had had charge of his father's vineyard for several years past. Lately he had been acting rather strangely, and at 8 o'clock Sunday morning became quite violent, charging his folks with wanting to kill him and giving evidence of being out of his mind. On Sunday afternoon, he started for town, but no anxiety was felt at his non-return until evening, they then became uneasy. Hunting parties had been scouring the country for him and his father had also been searching San Francisco, thinking he might have gone down there. His remains were accidentally found, Wednesday evening, by Henry RAHN, near whose house, the boy died. He had evidently wandered off during a fit of temporary insanity and roamed the hill until he died of exhaustion and privation." Source: The Sonoma Democrat (Santa Rosa, CA), 21 Sept 1889. "ROWLAND--Monday brought forth a most terrible mishap in this city, and Mrs. Jane ROWLAND, an aged resident of San Francisco, who was attending camp-meeting here, was the unfortunate one whom the casualty befell and which resulted in instant death. In company with Mr. TROY and the lady's grandson, she was strolling on the railroad track from the South st. crossing to the west St. crossing. When but a few feet from the trestle crossing the little creek on the west side of town, the whistle of the 2:50pm train was heard. They thought they would have ample time to reach the east end of the trestle before the train would reach them and they continued on. When about midway the locomotive was in sight and only about 150 feet distant. Mr. TROY and the boy leaped to the ground and Miss RIPPEY, who was standing near by noticed the peril of the old lady and called to her to jump too, but being somewhat dazed by her awful situation, she did not know what to do. She kept on walking however, and almost every other step would look back at the train that was thundering along at a speed of almost 10 miles per hour. For the last time she turned around and the deadwood of the engine pilot struck her a terrific blow on her left shoulder, throwing her headlong a distance of 15 feet against the abutment of the trestle. By the fall her neck was broken as was her right leg and the right side of her body was horribly bruised from shoulder to knee. Death came almost instantly, for she lived but 3 or 4 minutes. On Tuesday, an inquest on the remains was held in the city hall, Coroner BLANEY, presiding. The engineer and fireman of that train testified and explained that being on a curve they did not see her until the train was only a few rods from her. The danger signal was given but the engine could not be stopped in time to save her life, though the air brakes were at once applied and the engine reversed, almost derailing the locomotive. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death and exonerated the RR Company from any and all blame. The remains were interred in San Francisco and the obsequies were very mournful. Mrs.

ROWLAND leaves a large estate. The death of Mrs. ROWLAND of San Francisco, by being struck by the engine has cast something of a gloom over the camp."Source: Sonoma County Tribune (Healdsburg, CA), 24 Sept 1891. Transcribed by Jeanne Taylor.

"RYAN--The Water Supply-Mining Accidents--Virginia (Nev.) Sept 1, 1870--Fatal Mining Accident--I grieve that I have to relate another sad mining accident, which has occurred since my last letter. On Thursday evening, the 25th of August, Thomas STANTON and David RYAN were killed in the main shaft of the HALE & NORCROSS mine- killed instantly, by the cage falling to the bottom of the shaft. The breaking of a bolt was the cause of the mischief. There is no reason to accuse the managers of the mine of any want of precaution-that is, such precautions are usually taken, but it seems that the lives of these poor miners should not be dependent on so slight a thing. There ought to be some way of stopping the cage when such an accident happens-something more between these poor fellows and a dreadful death than a single bolt. Both of the men were quite young-one thirty years of age only, the other thirty-four. Both leave wives to lament their loss, one leaves also two children, and the unhappy mother about to be confined of a third. The funerals took place on Saturday, and were very largely attended. There were some sixty carriages in the procession, and about 500 members of the Miners' Union on foot. There is something to me very sad in these funerals, and though I have witnessed many of them I never can do so with the persons who have died a natural death, surrounded by their relatives and friends. I see walking in the procession fine, healthy looking men, patient and strong, and brave, and think how soon many of these may be even as the men they are following." She was a native of Tipperary, Ireland, and had been living in San Francisco during the past 3 years. Miss RYAN was on her way back to Ireland, intending to stop at Los Angeles, where she had a brother living. Unless devoured by sharks, the body of the unfortunate girl will probably be washed up on the beach near the mouth of the Salinas river." Source: Salinas Weekly Index, 22 Mar 1888. "SALDIVA--Fatal Shooting -- Francisco SALDIVA Killed by John DUNNE in a Dispute over a Drink -- Francisco SALDIVA, a tamales peddler, was fatally shot by a gambler named John L. DUNNE, at Vic BARLOGIO's saloon on Main street, between 4 and 5 o'clock last Sunday morning. The evidence adduced at the coroner's inquest held on Monday evening was substantially as follows: Frank CONNER testified that he went into BARLOGIO's saloon a little after 4 o'clock Sunday morning and there found DUNNE and SALDIVA. DUNNE ordered the drinks and SALDIVA asked CONNER to join them. After imbibing DUNNE refused to pay for SALDIVA's and CONNER's drinks. After wrangling a short time DUNNE drew his pistol and began striking at SALDIVA who was unarmed. SALDIVA backed out of the saloon and went to his home on Castroville street. A few minutes afterwards CONNER met SALDIVA on the street going towards BARLOGIO's saloon and saw him enter. A moment afterwards the saloon door opened, struggling men emerged upon the sidewalk and the report of a pistol was heard. Immediately afterwards SALDIVA started up Castroville street, entered his home and died in about 5 minutes. Vic BARLOGIO corroborated CONNER's testimony in regard to DUNNE's refusal to pay for the drinks and his attempt to beat SALDIVA with his pistol. He further testified that SALDIVA returned to the saloon brandishing a knife, when DUNNE drew his pistol but did not fire until SALDIVA had backed out to the sidewalk, when a shot was heard. DUNNE came into the saloon again exclaiming that SALDIVA had cut him and that he had shot SALDIVA, at the same time exhibiting a bleeding hand. Joe BOTILLER testified that when SALDIVA returned to the saloon he struck at DUNNE with a knife and, as he backed out of the saloon, was shot by DUNNE from the inside. Dr. Dorus BRUMWELL, who performed the autopsy, testified that the bullet entered under the collar bone, pursued a backward course when was it deflected downward, striking the 4th rib and fracturing it, when it took an upward and backward course lodging in the muscles of the back. In its course the bullet ruptured an artery causing death from hemorrhage. The coroner's jury, which was composed of John H. SMITH, W.J. SMITH, W.W. ZABALA, J.E. RIORDAN, C.Z. HEBERT, J.F. SNYDER, I. FERGUSON and Fred

"SARGENT--Death of B.V. SARGENT -- Ex-State Senator B.V. SARGENT died at his home in Monterey about 10 o'clock last Monday forenoon in the 65th year of his age. The malady to which he succumbed was a combination of la grippe and pneumonia brought on by getting wet and cold while driving cattle across the Carmel river to his San Francisquito ranch a few days before. He seemed to be getting along pretty well until last Friday night, when he suffered a relapse, became unconscious and remained in a comatose state until he died. Dr. GYDISON of Salinas and Dr. LANE of San Francisco were in attendance, but medical skill was unavailing to save their patient. Surrounded by all the members of his family the spirit of Bradley Varnum SARGENT winged its flight to those viewless realms on the other side of the river, where vast throngs are gathering as the stream of time flows onward. B.V. SARGENT was born in Grafton, New Hampshire in 182-[last digit illeg], and came to California in 1849. In the fall of 1850, in company with his 3 brothers, J.P., R.C. & J.L. SARGENT, he went into the stock business in San Joaquin county and, in the course of time, became the owners of large tracts of land in that county and also in the counties of Santa Clara and Monterey. B.V. SARGENT took up his residence in Monterey in 1858 and resided there until his death. A few years ago the brothers dissolved partnership and divided up their possessions, the property in Monterey County, estimated to worth $250,000, falling to B.V. SARGENT. B.V. SARGENT was a Democrat in politics, but of very liberal views. He was an affable big-hearted gentleman, a true friend, chari-[about 3 lines are illegible due to damaged newspaper]...prominently mentioned for Congress in this district. He was a leading member of the Masonic fraternity, being a Past Master of Monterey Lodge No. 217, F.&A.M.; a member of Salinas Chapter No. 59, R.A.M.; and a member of Watsonville Commandery No. 22, Knights Templar. The deceased was married to a most estimable lady at Mokelumne Hill in 1856, besides whom he leaves 3 sons and 1 daughter, all of whom are married and residents of this county. They are J.P., R.C. & B.V., Jr., and Mrs. M.M. GRAGG. The funeral took place at Monterey at 2 o'clock p.m., yesterday under the auspices of Monterey Lodge, No. 217, F.&A.M., Watsonville Commandery of Knights Templar acting as escort. A special train took over a big crowd of people from Salinas and surrounding country, and the funeral was one of the largest ever seen at the old capital, attesting the high esteem and respect in which the deceased was held in this community." "SCHINKEL--Otto SCHINKEL Killed Trying To Get Seat On Car---Brother Sees Prominent Brewer Fall to Death as Vehicle Starts Up. "Otto SCHINKEL, killed" was written yesterday on the "fatal accident" book that is kept by the United Railroads. SCHINKEL, a brewer of 2714 Bryant street, was killed by a Bryant street car just below Twentieth street shortly after noon yesterday as he was attempting to take a seat on the open side of the vehicle. The sudden starting of the car is alleged to have caused him to fall directly in front of the moving vehicle. The first wheel crossed his chest and the heavy trucks crushed his skull before Motorman J. N. SWOPE could stop the car. Motorman, conductor and passengers jumped to the man's aid. By main strenght they lifted the car. He was already dead, however, and terribly mangled. A brother J. H. SCHINKEL, was standing on the corner, less than fifty feet away, and saw the accident. He ran frantically to the scene and with his own hands dragged the form of his brother from under the car. J. N. SWOPE, the motorman, was arrested and charged with manslaughter. He was later released on $50 cash bail furnished by the railroad company. Otto SCHINKEL was a prominent German brewer of the city. He was the owner of the Anchor Brewery, located at North Beach before the fire and now being rebuilt at Eighteenth and Hampshire streets. He was a member of the Norddeustcher Verein, Norddeutsche Schutzen Verein, Schleswig-Holstein

"SCHMIDST--SHOCKING AFFAIR at HAYWARDS - A Man Shoots His Sister, and Then Kills Himself - Mr. CUMMINGS, of the San Francisco and Alameda Railroad Company, relates the following particulars of a terrible affair which occurred at Haywards, Alameda county, on last Sunday night. A German named Peter SCHMIDST, residing on a ranch something like a mile and a half from Haywards, on the Warm Springs road, with his sister, has been opposed to a marriage which she was about to contract with a farmer residing in Alameda county, but no one anticipated any serious trouble growing out of his antipathy to the alliance. On Monday morning the remains of the brother and sister were found in their house, and it appeared from their position and other circumstance that he must have shot her with a revolver, and then finished the work by blowing his own brains out with the same weapon. The most intense excitement was created in the neighborhood by the discovery of the bodies and it is yet impossible to get all the facts in the case." An unexpected and sudden illness silenced the beloved brother of Jack Stewart SELDEN; sister-in-law Marilyn SELDEN; nieces Jackie GRAY (husband, David), Sydney SELDEN-MARSDEN (children Jan, Kay Marie and William); nephew Mark SELDEN (wife, Robin and children Samantha and Spencer). We are grateful that family members were at 'Uncle Bing's' bedside during his last moments. Bing was an integral part of our family and we will miss his humor and generosity. Herbert Emory SELDEN, Jr. served in the 57th Field Artillery Battalion from 1941 to 1945. He maintained the friendships established there and enlivened their reunions. Herbert had just finished writing his memoirs, poignantly and humorously chronicling this period of his life. Herbert retired from Westinghouse Corporation and proceeded to enjoy his time at home, his family and friends, golfing, and his pets. Three years ago Bing discovered new talents that he approached with enthusiasm. He began to write and experiment with poetry. We will cherish the poems that came to us from Bing; and keep him close when we recall his humor and kindness. "SHERRY--THE SAN FRANCISCO TRAGEDY -- The catastrophe at Minna and New Montgomery streets, San Francisco, was more destructive of life and limb than was at first reputed. 4 persons were crushed to death and several others were badly injured, 1 or 2 of whom may not recover. There seems to be but little doubt that the disaster was the result of culpable mismanagement as the unsafe condition of the walls of the new building had been discussed the evening before they fell. The 'Chronicle' of Thursday says: The killed are Johanna McDONALD, aged 37 years; Mary LOGAN, aged 35; Peter McDONALD, aged 9 months; and Lizzie SHERRY, aged 11 years. The last named is a daughter of Mrs. McDONALD by her 1st husband. Johnny SHERRY who was spoken of as having been injured, was in a doubtful condition yesterday, he having been more seriously injured than was at first supposed. Coroner LETTERMAN took charge of the remains of the killed, and they were conveyed to the morgue and there laid out. 3 tables were placed side by side, on one of which Mrs. McDONALD was placed, on the next lay her dead children, and further on were the remains of Mrs. LOGAN. Soon after 10 o'clock in the morning a crowd of persons thronged to the Morgue with that morbid desire which is a part and parcel of human nature -- a desire to look upon the faces of those who have been suddenly called to that unknown country from whose bourne no tidings are received, or no traveler returns. The Coroner's Clerk, Mr. O'BRIEN, then opened the doors of the Morgue and from that time a continual crowd poured in until evening, when it was found necessary to refuse admittance to any more. It is estimated that over 5,000 persons, men, women and children, visited the room in which the bodies lay." Source: Stockton Daily Independent, 25 Feb 1871. Transcribed by Dee.

We have since learned that he left his house 2 weeks since in order to make arrangements for a trip to the East. He was not again seen, nor heard of, until his body was found on the ocean beach. It is said by some that he had money on his person at the time of his disappearance, and that foul play may have transpired. This, however, is merely conjecture." "SMALLS--OBITUARY OF EMILE B. SMALLS--Emile Bernard SMALLS was born in Mulhouse, France, on May 2nd, 1848. After graduating from the public school he studied music and mechanical drawing, the latter helping him to obtain work in the large Railroad shops near his home; at the tender age of seventeen, he was gang boss over five men. At eighteen, he shipped aboard a freighter as assistant engineer, plying between Marseilles, France and Cairo, Egypt, where he remained eight months, then worked his way to the United States, landing in the railroad shops in Rochester, N. Y., where he remained several months. Then the West called him; obtaining a job as assistant in the engine rooms on a vessel going to the Isthmus of Panama, he crossed the isthmus on the train and took boat to San Francisco and arrived in California in 1868. Remaining in San Francisco a few weeks, he then moved on to the Railroad shops in Truckee and Rocklin, working in the capacity of machinist; advancing on up to fireman, then engineer. He was known there as Frenchy, the "French boy with the Irish accent", acquired by working with Irish mechanics. He installed the first injector used in California engines and thru all his life was proud of having been engineer on the then new engine, the C. P. Huntington No. 1, now a relic on exhibition in Sacramento. In 1871, he and his brother, Charles arrived in Cedarville and took up farming, where he remained until his death, October 26, 1933. He led a very active life, taking part in nearly all the civic and public works organized in Cedarville. He and his brother set up and ran the first sawmill for Cantrall, also the first flour mill for Mr. N. DRY in Lake City; had the first artesian well bored in Surprise Valley; helped organize the first Grange and Odd Fellow Lodges. He was a member of the latter for nearly sixty years, having his fifty-year pin several years ago. In 1879, he sent to France for his bride, Antoinette WEBER and was married on January fifth in the home for which he sawed the lumber and built. There were six children born to them, Emilie B. HUGHES, of Cedarville, Cal., Rosalie M. MATEER and Antoinette ASTON of Oakland, Cal., and Pauline CHRISTENS of Medford, Oregon; the two boys died in infancy. He leaves six grand children and on sister, Mrs. Rosalie HANCOCK of Oakland and his devoted widow, to mourn him. He was a kind and gently husband and father and much beloved for his happy disposition, always wanting to see people happy. He will be remembered by all the older people, playing the clarinet for them to dance by, having as much fun as they. He was a good neighbor in trouble and will also be remembered by all who worked for him for his kind deeds and generosity. This world is a better world for his having been here." "SMITH--In San Francisco, January 21, 1885 [sic.], Mrs. Eunice SMITH; of Chester, Vermont, mother of T. W. SPRING, of this city. - The Last Sleep of Peace - Last Saturday Mrs. Eunice SMITH, mother of T.W. SPRING, of this city, departed life at San Francisco, after a lingering illness, aged 74 and sic months. The deceased was a native of Chester, Vermont, but for many years resided in New Orleans. She became a member of the Poydras street M.E. Church, of that city, forty-two years ago, from which time to the date of her death she lived a firm believer in the Christian religion and the hope of a home eternal. She was well known to many in this city, all of whom loved and honored her for her kindness of heart and unostentations charities. She never counted the cost or trouble where she could serve a friend or a poor person in need. She delighted in doing good and as a consequence her home was known to all the needy, vagrant or otherwise, and though she might occasionally chide the worthless ones, in her endeavor to have them do better, she never failed to relieve their distress. Aside from her relatives there are many who will mourn her loss as if a mother had been taken from them, for owing to her peculiar way of sympathizing with them, they felt as if they were her children. When such as she dies, the community feel the loss. Mr. SPRING's place of business was closed, and all of his employees departed for San Francisco to attend the funeral from the Central M.E. Church on Mission street in that city. Our sincere sympathy is tendered the family in their bereavment." Source: The Pioneer, (San Jose, CA), 28 Jan 1882.

"SMITH--Sunday is known as "asphyxiation day" at the Morgue, for a Sabbath seldom comes without a case of suffocation by coal gas. Many of such cases come from lodging houses, where no attention is paid to gas burners. The fuddled or ingorant transient retires late Saturday night, turns out the light and goes to bed ignorant of the fact that he has turned the stopcock too far, and the deadly fluid is filling the room. Next day his body is discovered and the Coroner's deputy reports that he found gas flowing from a burner in the apartment. A newly married couple, John SMITH and wife of Berkeley, were among the burner's victims yesterday. They came to this city Saturday afternoon and spent the evening at Michael MITCHELL's saloon, 823 Howard Street. SMITH was a railroad employee and was related to the saloonkeeper. He was married a week ago to the buxom girl, and took her to the city with him for the purpose of introducing her to his friends. Late at night the SMITHs made their way to the ferry only to discover that the last boat had crossed the bay. They returned to MITCHELL's and were invited to pass the remainder of the night in a furnished apartment adjoining the saloon. The invitation was gratefully accepted, and MITCHELL went home leaving the gas burning in the room in which the young couple had retired. When the saloonkeeper entered his place yesterday morning the light in the room occupied by the guests was out, and the apartment filled with gas and the bride and groom lay dead together. The stopcock on the burner had been turned on a little too far. A physician was summoned by MITCHELL, and he declared that the SMITHs had been dead two hours." You know I have had a good deal of trouble; I have made myself sick crying. I will tell you my name -- you can put it in the papers: Mrs. Lizzie SMITH, formerly Mrs. Lizzie SEELEY, of Albany, New York, aged 26 years. You take care of me -- I know you will. "SMITH--STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION -- The steam ferry boat, Contra Costa, exploded her boiler on Sunday morning last, whilst crossing the bar to enter Oakland. She was just from San Francisco, had been racing with another boat, the Oakland; hence, as is alleged, the disaster. We append a list of the killed, taken from the 'Alta,' of Monday, together with the number of the injured: List of the Killed -- The following is the list of those who are known to have been killed: -David W. CADY, a street contractor, formerly Deputy City Surveyor, aged 34 years, a native of New York. Mr. C. was blown into the air and fell into the water; he swam to the boat and was taken on board the Oakland, but died soon after. Michael G. SMITH, the barkeeper of the boat, was engaged in opening a basket of wine at the time of the explosion. The bar-room was entirely carried away, and the unfortunate man was never seen afterwards. It is rumored that a hand was subsequently found which, by a ring upon one of the fingers, was recognized as belonging to Mr. SMITH. Henry L. OSTRANDER, one of the crew, was dreadfully scalded and was brought to this city [San Francisco] and taken to the Marine Hospital, where he died soon after. Albert WINSHIP, one of the firemen, was dreadfully scalded, and taken on board the steamer Oakland and conveyed to the shore, where he died in a few minutes. George McDOWELL, the head fireman of the boat, a native of New Jersey, and a son of ex-Alderman McDOWELL, of Sacramento. His remains were brought to this city [San Francisco] on the wreck of the Contra Costa, but re-taken to Oakland for a Coroner's inquest. "SNICK--A MAN POISONS HIMSELF - Rats Eat Him and Are Poisoned in Turn - The Napa 'Reporter' of 18th February tells the following horrible tale: The remains of one "Dick" or Rich SNICK were discovered last night in a vacant store-house near Jack's Point. They had been partially devoured by rats, which had mangled and eaten the flesh from the fingers and hands, and other parts of the exposed person. It was at first supposed he had come to his death from an attack of rats, and from the number of these dead vermin lying about, had made a desperate resistance. But subsequent examination dispelled this idea. The Coroner's inquest elicited the following information: The deceased was well known to a number of persons here [Napa], who considered him a dangerous character, and from his talk thought he had killed some one; they did not know where he came from, only that he had stated that at some subsequent period he had been in Redington's drug store, San Francisco, was much given to drink and had said his name was Richard SNICK. A paper marked "poison" was found near him and on analyzing the contents of his stomach, highly inflamed, there is no doubt he had committed suicide, and eating his poisoned remains had killed the rats. The jury found thereupon, that the remains discovered were those of Richard SNICK, 50 years old or more, of dissipated habits; nativity unknown, and that while laboring under delirium tremens he had taken poison, which occasioned his death." "SPIRELING--A SINGULAR DEATH -- The Nevada 'Transcript' of May 7th relates the following singular occurrence: Several weeks ago we published an item of the death of H.C. SPIRELING, from paralysis. He was taken with a fit while at work, and never spoke afterward. He was conveyed by his partner to San Francisco for treatment, and died shortly after reading that place. Louis GOUHL, his partner, went with him to the Bay and remained with him until his death. GOUHL returned home and went to work, and on last Wednesday he was stricken down in the same manner as SPIRELING; and remained insensible up to Saturday night, when he expired. Both of these men were upright and industrious, and highly respected in the community. They were natives of Prussia and single men. Both men have resided on Deer Creek for several years, and were not known to be subject to paralytic fits. "STANTON--On Wednesday afternoon last, Charles STANTON, formerly of San Francisco, was drowned while bathing in the Russian River, near Duncan's Mills. He had lately come from San Francisco to take a position as steward with Mr. MOORE, proprietor of the Grand Hotel, Duncan Mills. He had not intended to assume duties of his new position until the first of the month, and in the meantime had been familiarizing himself with the many attractive spots which abound in that part of the county. The friend who was in the water with him says that STANTON, without any previous warning, uttered a piercing shriek and sank out of sight beneath the swiftly flowing current. He had been taken with a cramp, and, being in deep water, quite a distance from the shore, his death was inevitable. Every effort to recover the body has been without avail, and as a last resort, giant powder is being used in the hope of floating the corpse." "STANTON--The Water Supply-Mining Accidents--Virginia (Nev.) Sept 1, 1870--Fatal Mining Accident--I grieve that I have to relate another sad mining accident, which has occurred since my last letter. On Thursday evening, the 25th of August, Thomas STANTON and David RYAN were killed in the main shaft of the HALE & NORCROSS mine- killed instantly, by the cage falling to the bottom of the shaft. The breaking of a bolt was the cause of the mischief. There is no reason to accuse the managers of the mine of any want of precaution-that is, such precautions are usually taken, but it seems that the lives of these poor miners should not be dependent on so slight a thing. There ought to be some way of stopping the cage when such an accident happens-something more between these poor fellows and a dreadful death than a single bolt. Both of the men were quite young-one thirty years of age only, the other thirty-four. Both leave wives to lament their loss, one leaves also two children, and the unhappy mother about to be confined of a third. The funerals took place on Saturday, and were very largely attended. There were some sixty carriages in the procession, and about 500 members of the Miners' Union on foot. There is something to me very sad in these funerals, and though I have witnessed many of them I never can do so with the persons who have died a natural death, surrounded by their relatives and friends. I see walking in the procession fine, healthy looking men, patient and strong, and brave, and think how soon many of these may be even as the men they are following." "STATES--Willaim N. STATES was found dead in his bed, at a room at The Empire Lodging House, on Commercial Street at half past five o'clock last evening [14 Jan 1875]. The body, when found, was lying across the bed, the upper part, resting against the wall, the feet overhanging the the bed, thus giving reason to belive he had attempted to rise and fallen dead in the attempt. He was found in that position. Very soon after, Dr. SILVERS was summoned and gave his opinion he had not been long deceased. STATES was an old resident of California, coming here in 1849 from New London, Connecticut, of which town he was a native. He conducted a restaurant for a number of years on Long Wharf. For a long time afterward, he was a special police officer on Jackson Street among the Chinese quarters. It was during those years, he became attached and married to Agatha, one of the three MANDEVILLE Sisters, then becoming popular in theatrical circles as singers in this city. They travelled Europe, where she achieved great fame. After they returned to San Francisco. Their lives became such that they could no longer live peacelbly together and she obtained a divorce; the chief cause being his dissipated habits. While she continued the profession on stage, he did little, only eaking out an existence as best he could, as special watchman about circuses or other places of amusement.

"STEARNS--Abel STEARNS of Los Angeles, died in San Francisco, he came to America in 1828." Source: Russian River Flag (Healdsburg, CA), 31 Aug 1871. Transcribed by Jeanne Taylor.

"STEARNS--Dispatch from San Francisco, Aug. 27 -- ABEL STEARNS -- The 'Alta' of Friday has the following concerning this gentleman, well known throughout the State: The funeral of Don Abel STEARNS, who died at the Grand Hotel on Wednesday afternoon, will take place tomorrow at 10 a.m. from the St. Mary's Cathedral. The Pioneers will take due steps to show honor to one of the foremost of their number. While yet a young man he left his home in Massachusetts and passed some time in Mexico, from thence coming to California, then a Mexican State, in 1828. He was 82 at the time of his death. He settled in Los Angeles, where he since resided. He was largely engaged in trading, stock and land speculations, and when gold was discovered in 1848 he was owner of several hundred thousand acres of land and about 50,000 head of fine cattle. In 1842 he made the 1st shipment of California gold on record. At that time a few Mexicans from Sonora were working the placers at San Francisquita, about 35 miles NW from Los Angeles, which were worked until 1846, yielding \$6,000 or \$8,000 a year. Mr. STEARNS sent 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ ounces of this gold to the United States Mint, at Philadelphia, on the 22d of November, 1842; and the certificate of assay which he received Aug. 6, 1843, is now in the archives of the San Francisco Society of Pioneers, of which body Mr. STEARNS was a member. Since the settlement of the State by Americans, following the large gold discovery at Sutter's Mill in 1848, he was not by any means always fortunate in his speculations, and his estate became reduced. "STEARNS--After living eighty three years and trying for the last two years to bear the affliction of finishing life's journey deprived of the society of his wife who went before him, Charles G. STEARNS, a retired capatilist, hanged himself yesterday afternoon. He had been living for years with his sister-in-law, Mrs. James A. DYER at 822 Dolores Street. His despondency had been noticed for some time and he had frequently threatened to end his life. Mrs. DYER found a note on the old man's dresser saying: "I am down in the cellar". She went there at once and found the body hanging to a rafter. The old man knotted a rope around his neck, and standing on a barrel, had kicked the support from beneath him and strangled to death. from Hamilton College and was admitted to the Supreme Court of New York. He practiced law then until 1849, when he started for this State. He reached here in 1852 and settled in Santa Cruz County as a farmer, renting places near Watsonville in the Pajaro Valley. He was elected to the Legislature in 1853 as an independent candidate. He was a Whig, and though the county was then Democratic, he was re-elected to the Assembly in 1854. In 1855 he was chosen Speaker of the House. He then retired from politics. However, July 25, 1854, he was a candidate before the Whig convention for Congressional nomination but before a vote was taken his name was withdrawn. On August 8, 1855, he was a candidate before the American State convention for the office of Governor, but was defeated by J. Neely JOHNSON. Mr. STOW then opened a law office in San Francisco, and was associated with Harvey S. BROWN for a time. He soon obtained a large practice, especially in land cases. In 1858 he was joined by his wife's brother, W.H. PATERSON, who came from Elmire, N.Y. For a time the firm was known as STOW and PATERSON. In 1863 W.T. WALLACE, now Superior Judge of San Francisco, joined the firm, but in 1868 he withdrew. STOW then became prominently identified with the Central Pacific Railroad Company. However, in the early sixties STOW laid the foundation of his fortune by purchasing lands in the southern part of the State, principally in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, where two of his sons now are. The Laguna rancho he bought outright. He also purchased a claim to the Corral del Piedra and by his knowledge of law and shrewdness achieved a victory out of which he cleared about \$200,000. Other similar investments netted him good returns. From 1870 Mr. STOW became ruler of the State in a certain political way. He was the agent of the railroad company and was admitted to be the ablest politician known in California. During the past six years he has devoted his time principally to Golden Gate Park." "SULLIVAN--The people living in the neighborhood of Linden Avenue, Hayes Valley, have had a prolific theme of conversation during the last few days. It is the unusual and peculiar circumstances attending the death of Martin SULLIVAN of 622 Linden Avenue between Laguna and Buchanan streets, which occurred last Thursday [16 Oct 1884] night. SULLIVAN was an express wagon driver who leaves a wife and seven children with a stipend of \$2,000 from the Knights of Honor. He was recently stricken down with pneumonia and was attended by Dr. J.F. SULLIVAN of Van Ness Ave, but he grew worse rapidly. Last Wednesday night, he expected each moment to die, and he seemed to pass away peacefully as they watched by his side. His eyes were closed and his heart stopped beating, and he was given up for dead, but the color never left his cheeks, and after 20 minutes he opened his eyes and exclaimed, "No, I didn't die that time. They're not ready for me just yet in heaven, but you may as well prepare everything, for I'll soon leave you". Thursday night he apparently breathed his last again and never rallied. He was pronounced dead and put on ice and kept until Sunday before he was buried. When in his coffin, his cheeks were still flushed, and all who saw him remarked "How natural he looks. He does not seem to be dead, but only sleeping." Source: San Francisco Daily Morning Call, 21 Oct 1884, p.7. Transcribed by Sandi Bordelon.

Mrs. SWAIN is positive that he took laudanum by mistake as he has been troubled for months with nervous irritation, which prevented him from sleeping and had been taking valerian in large doses to quiet his nervous system. Michael F. TARPEY, 78, prominently identified in state political circles for many years and one of California's best known citizens, was found dead in bed at the Hotel Hughson at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning by his son, Arthur B. TARPEY. Heart trouble is believed to have been the cause of death. TARPEY, who had been complaining of a minor ailment for several days, was en route to San Francisco from Fresno with his son, and both stopped here last night, intending to leave for the city early Tuesday. According to his son, TARPEY retired early, and later arose. He told his son that he was merely feeling ill, and that he would be alright in the morning. Arthur TARPEY slept in an adjoining room. Since the death of his wife over a year ago, TARPEY had lived in Fresno exclusively. He was president of the Fresno irrigation district, and a member of the general committee of the Pine Flat project. The last four years of his life were devoted to public-spirited matters. Born in Ireland, TARPEY settled near Fresno in 1883. In 1886 he was a candidate on the democratic ticket for lieutenant-governor of California. He was the deocratic national committee man for California for 24 years, retiring from this capacity 16 years ago. TARPEY was also associated with the late Senator George C. HEARST, father of William Randolph HEARST, in the early days. After the senator's death, TARPEY represented the interests of Mrs. Phoebe HEARST in Mexico for many years, managing the enormous ranch and mine properties which the estate owned there. He was also the personal friend and co-worker in the democratic party with Senator James D. PHELAN for many years. TARPEY is survived by one son, Arthur B. TARPEY. The deceased had been a teacher in the public schools of this county for many years...He was a thorough disciplinarian, well versed in all the branches of his profession and readily imparted his knowledge to those under his charge. He abandoned his profession several years ago and went to San Francisco, where he drifted from the place of prominence to the companionship of those who live by the glare of the gaslight...at last he had to seek shelter in the county poor house...at his grave in the public plot there was no friend present to shed a tear..." "TAYLOR--"Natchez" Killed -- We learn by telegraph at a late hour last evening that A.J. TAYLOR, familiarly known as "Natchez," who was always called upon to load the pistols in "affairs of honor," not only while he was in Mississippi, but since his residence in San Francisco, was accidentally shot the 24th ult. He was behind his counter when a customer was examining a pistol that was loaded, but not capped. While cocking the weapon, the hammer slipped, and notwithstanding there was no cap on the tube, the force given was sufficient to strike fire, and the pistol went off, the ball striking "Natchez" a little above the mouth and entering the brain. He lived but a few moments after receiving the wound. It was he who loaded the pistols for JOHNSTON and FERGUSON, and he declared that it was the last duel for which he would consent to load a pistol. His death will created no little sensation, as he was widely known by reputation. VERDICT in CASE OF "NATCHEZ" -- The following is the verdict of the Coroner's

Mr. TAYLOR died yesterday afternoon after a short illness due to the infirmities of advanced years at the age of 75 years. Mr. TAYLOR was born in Ohio and came to Amador county sixty years ago. He had charge of the famous Old Eureka mine during its bonanza days, was superintendent of the Zella mine thirty-three years and was one of the original promoters of the Argonaut mine, one of the richest on the mother lode. He is said to have handled $35,000,000 in gold. He never held public office other than trustee for the Jackson high school. Aside from mining he made a part of his wealth in investments and was one of the directors of the Bank of Amador county. His fortune is estimated at a quarter of a million. "TAYLOR--Young Woman Looks For Lost Gold Mine -- REDDING (Shasta Co.), May 8 - Miss Bee TAYLOR, residing temporarily in San Francisco, was in Redding several days last week looking for some trace of a $20,000 gold mine near this city that her uncle, James D. TAYLOR, left when he died in San Francisco in April 1903. Miss TAYLOR spent many hours in diligent search of the records, and in making inquiries among mining men, but she found no evidence of the valuable gold mine left by her relative. recently to administer upon her uncle's estate. While she was in San Francisco, and only a day before the earthquake, she met a Masonic friend of her uncle. It was from him she got the information about the gold mine for which her uncle had steadfastly refused $20,000 cash. This friends could not give the exact location of the rich claim. He knew only that it was "near Redding." The occasion of Miss TAYLOR's return to San Francisco was to hunt up this friend and get more information, if possible. But because of the confusion caused by the fire and the earthquake, it may be as hard to find her uncle's friends in the city as it is to find the $20,000 gold mine "near Redding." "THARP-- Sudden Death of City's Architect -- Newton J. THARP Succumbs After Brief Illness While in New York City. -- Stricken with pneumonia while in the full vigor of manhood, Newton J. THARP, city architect of San Francisco, succumbed to the disease yesterday at the Knickerbocker hotel in New York city, and gloom now pervades his home in this city, the municipal offices, where he was respected as an honorable and able official, and the Bohemian club, where he had been styled a "prince of good fellows." Engaged in the study of modern eastern municipal structures, the knowledge from which he was to use for the benefit of San Francisco, the deceased thought little of his own personal comfort or health, and as a result he leaves a widow prostrated with grief, and a host of friends stunned by the news of his death. It seems like the irony of fate that when he was attacked by the disease which caused his death Newton THARP was engaged in the work of studying the modern hospitals of New York and gathering data for use in drawing plans for a hospital where San Francisco's poor could be restored to health. -- Studying Hospitals -- Having completed the plans for all of the other municipal buildings contemplated, THARP was sent east by the board of supervisors April 25 to gather data on the construction of hospitals. He was accompanied by his son, Laurence, 13 years of age. Prior to his departure he talked enthusiastically of his plans with friends at the Bohemian club, of which he was a member. The architect wrote daily to his wife, who remained at their home, 1600 Lyon street until a week ago, when the letters ceased. The next heard from him was a telegram to Mrs. THARP, received Saturday night, which read: "Have been slightly ill, but will be all right tomorrow. Do not mind Laurence's letter." The letter referred to was written by his son, and stated that THARP was very ill. The first warning of real danger came Tuesday evening in a telegram from Ernest PEIXOTTO of this city, but now in New York, to his brother, Edgar PEIXOTTO, well known local attorney and lifelong friend of THARP. -- Widow Is Overcome -- Mrs. THARP was told that her husband was seriously ill and was preparing to go to him yesterday, when messages announcing his death were received simultaneously at the office of the board of supervisors and by Edgar PEIXOTTO. The shock proved too much for the widow's strength, and she collapsed. She is attended constantly by her sister Mrs. E. M. POLNEMUS of Los Angeles, who is here on a visit. Flags were lowered to half mast on all municipal buildings as soon as the news reached here, as well as at the Bohemian club. Grief and astonishment were expressed on all sides. Edgar PEIXOTTO, at the request of Mrs. THARP, took charge yesterday of the disposition of the remains. It was decided last night to have the body cremated in New York, and have the ashes brought home. Newton J. THARP was born in Petaluma 42 years ago, and was one of eight children. He spent his early years in that town, and was a playmate of Luther BURBANK, the renowned scientist. During his youth he went to Chicago, where he took up the study of architecture and painting. Later he went to Paris, where he attended the institute of Beaux Arts. Having traveled in Europe for two years he returned to the United States and practiced his profession as an architect in New York and Chicago, but decided to settle in San Francisco in 1889. THARP was married to Miss Laura HANNA in Los Angeles in June, 1892, and is survived by her and their young son. -- Well Known as Architect -- The deceased architect was first employed by the late Edward R. SWAIN in this city; and on the death of the latter perfected the plans for the present Ferry building. He became the senior member of the firm of THARP & HOLMES and designed the Dewey monument in Union square, as well as the Grant building, the Sloane building, the Whittier residence, the beautiful Martin home in Ross valley and other well known structures. He became city architect in October, 1907, and planned all of the new municipal structures now under course of erection. THARP was one of the most beloved members of the Bohemian club, of which he was a prominent member. He acted as sire of the midsummer jinks of 1904, when

"TOLAND--Dr. H. H. TOLAND 'His Sad and Sudden Death Yesterday Morning Biographical Sketch of a Remarkably Brilliant and Successful Physician - The College He Gave the State' Dr. Hugh Huger TOLAND, one of the most eminent and successful medical practitioners in this city, died suddenly at his residence, No. 810 Jackson street, at half-past eleven o'clock yesterday morning. For months past the Doctor had been in good health and gaining flesh. Yesterday morning, after partaking of a hearty breakfast, he went down to his office on Merchant street, where, assisted by Dr. R. A. McLEAN, he successfully performed a difficult surgical operation shortly after nine o'clock. He then left the office and drove to the residences of some patients at a distance. While making these rounds he was attacked with colic, and gave orders to be driven home immediately. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday he had suffered from similar attacks, which were supposed to be the result of an indulgence in English walnuts, to which he had recently acquired a strong liking. Entering his residence, he passed through the hall to a small sitting-room. Summoning the butler, he called for a glass of whiskey, which was instantly brought. The Doctor had scarcely placed the glass to his lips, when he staggered toward a lounge, from between the folding-doors of the dining-room, where he was standing, and fell to the floor. In falling, his head came in contact with the back of a chair, producing an abrasion of the skin upon the forehead. His attendant rushed to his assistance and helped him on the lounge, where, after a few struggling gasps, he expired. Dr. Charles G. TOLAND, step-son of Dr. H. H. TOLAND, was summoned, and though responding immediately, was too late to be of any service. A cursory examination was sufficient to satisfy him that DEATH RESULTED FROM APOPLEXY. No premonitions of this sad event had been manifested in any way. On the contrary, he has been unusually active and spirited, and would have been thought one of the last likely to be suddenly stricken down by death, so that it was not only an overwhelming shock to members of his family, but a sad surprise to the community in which he has been so long and widely known and respected. Dr. TOLAND was born in Newbury, near Columbia, South Carolina, in 1808, and consequently was about seventy-two years of age at the time of his sudden demise. He graduated at Transylvania Medical College, in March, 1832, after which he went to Paris, where he took a post graduate course. Returning to Columbia, he there entered upon the practice of his profession, in which he continued till 1851. During this period he married twice. In 1852 he arrived in this city with his second wife. Being in ill health, he purchased what is now known as "the Gwin Mine," in Calaveras Co., and went to work in it. Two years later he returned to the city and joined Dr. McMILLAN in the practice of medicine. This partnership lasted but a year or two. He continued in practice ever since, except for a few months during the Centennial year, when he took a trip through the Eastern States. Being considered one of the safest, ablest and informed members of his profession, his practice grew steadily, and during the last fifteen or twenty years he enjoyed the largest and most lucrative practice in the State, and probably in the United States. He was one of the early physicians to the United States Marine Hospital, and had a wonderful capacity for work, which he disposed of with extraordinary ease and rapidity. In the midst of his arduous professional duties he found time for literary work, and leaves behind, among other treasures, a well written medical book. His charity was unbounded, indigent poor never applied to him in vain. His services were always at their command. Being a man OF QUIET, UNOSTENTATIOUS MANNER. Only those coming within the circle of his benefactions were at all aware of their magnitude. In 1865, Dr. TOLAND built the TOLAND Medical College, situated on the corner of Stockton and Pfeiffer streets, between Chestnut and Francisco streets. The old building is now a notable landmark in the northern portion of the city. He had been President of the Faculty until 1874, when he donated the building and entire property, together with the adjoining building, to the State University. The property was valued at $100,000, and the gift unencumbered with conditions. After the transfer he was appointed Professor in Surgery of the Faculty. After transfer to the Regents of the University he asked that the college should retain his name, but his request was refused. A Committee is now considering a bill before the Legislature providing that the college shall be designated as the TOLAND College of the University of California. At the time of his death he had entirely given up lecturing on surgery in the University, but continued clinical lectures in the County Hospital. The only public office Dr. TOLAND ever held was that of member of the City Board of Health. He was appointed by Governor HAIGHT, and reappointed by Governors BOOTH and IRWIN. He always took a deep interest in the proceedings of the Board, and

bestowed much time and attention thereto. By his second wife Dr. TOLAND had two daughters, both married. One was the late Mrs. GLASSELL, who died about six months ago in Los Angeles, and the other Mrs. SIME, a widow of the late John SIME, an old pioneer banker. The latter lady is now residing in this city. In 1858 Dr. TOLAND married the present Mrs. TOLAND, and purchased the residence on Jackson Street from Dr. Wm. M. GWIN. For a long time previous to this marriage, Dr. TOLAND resided at the International Hotel, and subsequently at the Roberts House, corner of Washington and Jackson streets. The residence on Jackson street is a model of comfort and elegance, well adapted to the entertainments so frequently given by Dr. and Mrs. TOLAND, and which were characterized by the most generous liberality and sociability. Both were members of Dr. PLATT's congregation, and assisted Grace Church financially on many occasions when calls were made for the building and maintenance of the church. Dr. TOLAND leaves A WIDOW AND TWO CHILDREN, Mrs. SIME, and a boy eleven years of age, the former by his second wife, and the latter by his third. Besides these there are thirteen grandchildren. Dr. Charles G. TOLAND is the son of the surviving wife by a former husband. The value of the estate of Dr. TOLAND is estimated at $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. In addition to his professional income he derived a large revenue from judicious land investments. He was possessed of considerable property in the interior, including a large ranch near Rio Vista, on which he annually raised large crops of wheat. About a year ago he sold his crop for something like $125,000. Dr. TOLAND was six feet one inch in height, and of erect and dignified carriage, until a year or two ago, when he grew stout, but maintained a dignified gait. He was very agreeable in his intercourse with every one, and made friends everywhere. He was a member of many prominent Medical Societies, and well-known throughout the State, his career having been a remarkably brilliant and successful one. In politics, although a pronounced Democrat, he never appeared prominently in any party Convention. The following notice published by the President of the Board of Health is self-explanatory: February 17, 1880. T. J. SHACKELFORD, Secretary of Board of Health: - In consequence of the sad and sudden death of one of the most honorable members of the Board of Health, as well as one of the most eminent and respected of our citizens, Dr. H. H. TOLAND, and for the purpose of giving suitable expression in our regrets for the afflictive dispensation, I willask you to call a meeting of the Board of Health at the Mayor's office tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock. Respectfully, L. H. KALLOCH, President." Source: The Morning Call, 28 Feb 1880. Contact: William Belton wbelton@intrepid.net

"TOLAND--'GONE TO REST SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. H. H. TOLAND YESTERDAY. A short Biography of One of the Most Useful and Prominent Members of the Medical Profession.' The city was startled yesterday by the announcement of the sudden death of Dr. H. H. TOLAND, which occurred at his residence, 810 Jackson street, at half-past 11 o'clock. The demise was not only a shock to his family and his friends, but to the whole community. For some time past Dr. TOLAND had complained of not feeling as well as usual and that he suffered from slight pains in the region of the heart. He left his home yesterday morning in better spirits than usual

to visit his patients. Returning at half past 11 o'clock he was met by his servant, who opened the door for him and led him into the sitting-room, where he was wont to read the morning papers. He asked the doctor whether he wished his usual glass of wine, and Dr. TOLAND told him to bring him some diluted whisky, as the old pains had returned and he felt rather oppressed. The servant stepped out and returned just in time to catch in his arms the falling form of Dr. TOLAND, who never uttered a single word. The servant laid the dying man upon the lounge and summoned help with all possible speed. Dr. C. G. TOLAND was sent for in all haste, but when he arrived the soul of his father had departed from the body. The cause of the death is not yet known. A slight abrasion of the skin of the forehead was caused by the fall, the head striking against the wooden back of the lounge. Dr. TOLAND was A NATIVE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, Being born near Columbia in 1808, and consequently in the seventy-second year of his life. He studied medicine at the Transylvania University, Kentucky, receiving his diploma in 1832. For several years he practiced medicine in his native place. In 1850 he was seized by the mining fever and emigrating to this coast, he spent some time at mining in Calaveras County. He came to San Francisco in 1852 in company with his second wife, whom he had sent for from the East. Here he resumed the practice of medicine, and soon became famous as a physician. His practice continued to grow until it became immense, and as he seldom exacted any fee from poor people, his office was continually thronged by the indigent sick. He nevertheless attained a large fortune, not only from the proceeds of his professional labors, but by successful speculations as well. In 1858 he married the present Mrs. TOLAND and purchased the residence which he occupied at the day of his death. The result of this union is a boy, now 11 years of age. There is also a daughter by his second wife, Mrs. SIME, widow of the late John SIME, the pioneer banker. Of his first wife in South Carolina nothing is known. There is also an adopted son, Dr. Charles G. TOLAND, and a number of grandchildren, the issue of a second daughter, now deceased. In 1865 Dr. TOLAND founded the TOLAND MEDICAL COLLEGE. The old building which was erected by him at the corner of Stockton and Pfeiffer streets for college purposes, has since become a landmark of San Francisco. He remained President of the faculty until 1874, when the college, together with the adjoining building, was donated by him to the State University. The property at that time was valued at $100,000. After the transfer he was appointed Professor in Surgery of the Faculty. He took the liveliest interest in the institution, and after its transfer to the Regents of the University, he requested that the college should keep his name. This request was refused, and at present a bill is pending before the Legislature providing that the college be designated as the TOLAND Medical College of the University of California. Dr. TOLAND served several terms as member of the San Francisco Board of Health. He was appointed by Governor HAIGHT, and was successively reappointed by Governors BOOTH and IRWIN. To this branch of the public service he gave considerable attention, being absent at but very few meetings of the Board. In politics he inclined towards Democratic doctrine. Deceased was a stately man over six feet in height and erect in carriage. He wore whiskers under his chin and long hair, which reached the coat-collar, presenting an appearance which could not fail to strike the eye. The estate is estimated at from $1,500,000 to

"TREMBLEY--DEATH of a STOCKTONIAN ? The New York papers contain a notice of the death of Captain William W. TREMBLEY, of the 178th Regiment New York Volunteers, from the effects of a surgical operation at St. James Hospital, New Orleans, on Sunday, May 8th. Mr. TREMBLEY was a native of New York City and an old resident of Stockton, having settled here in the fall of '49. He was a house carpenter by trade, which business he followed until after the May fire of '51, when he connected himself as book-keeper with Underhill & Bro., who occupied a wooden store on the corner of El Dorado and Main streets, where the theater building now stands. Shortly after engaging as clerk, he became one of the firm of Underhill & Co.; and in '52 or '53, Mr. UNDERHILL sold his interest to Mr. HARROLD, and the firm then became TREMBLEY & HARROLD. They continued in business until about '56 when they closed out and formed the firm of Harrold, Randall & Co., (TREMBLEY), of San Francisco. Our old residents well remember Mr. TREMBLEY as one of the main pillars of the Presbyterian Church, where he led the choir for many years. He was an exemplary man, a true and consistent Christian, sincerely loved and respected by the whole community ? a man always firm in what he thought to be right and true and nothing could swerve him from the right path. He left San Francisco after disposing of his interest in the firm of Harrold, Randall & Co., to Mr. JONES, formerly a resident and merchant at Vallecito, Calaveras county, and went to Georgia where his wife resided. He was a man of a remarkably cheerful disposition, always first in acts of benevolence, and no one have more liberally or cheerfully to alleviate distress or to help the needy. He was one of the first to help organize the Protection Hook & Ladder Company No. 1 of this city, and took a very active interest in all matters appertaining to the Fire Department. When the war broke out he declared his sympathies for the Union, and for these sentiments he was driven penniless from his home, his own wife and family assisting in his banishment. Returning directly from Georgia to New York, he joined the volunteers ? receiving a Captain's commission. He sacrificed all for his country, even his life. We are indebted to George H. SANDERSON, Esq., Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, for the above particulars of Mr. TREMBLEY's career in this State and we are under obligation to Judge UNDERGILL for permission to publish a few extracts of a letter written by Mr. TREMBLEY, while in the hospital at New Orleans, under date of April 23k. The writer says: "I am glad to hear that your Church is prosperous. Although removed from Church influences and where Sundays are as all other days, yet, if with you, and again in civil life, I know that I should partake of your interest in these things. It is too true that Sabbaths and religious teachings and influences are almost ignored and forgotten in the army. This is, in a measure, owing to the inseparable movements and mobility, I may say, of an army in the field, which cannot regard days, however sacred. I try to preserve myself from the contamination of the many vices so usual in the army, the worst of which are drunkenness and profanity." Source: Stockton Daily Independent, 22 June 1864. "TRENEAR-- SWALLOWED CARBOLIC ACID -- Suicide Near Bay of San Francisco of Herbert R. TRENEAR -- MOTHER RESIDES HERE -- Herbert R. TRENEAR, a baker, formerly of San Jose, where his mother and other relatives still reside, committed suicide near San Francisco on Monday by swallowing half the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid. The spot selected for the act was in the hills west of the Five-Mile House on the San Bruno road, overlooking the bay. Two greyhounds discovered the dead body in the afternoon, their master being close behind them. A half-filled bottle of carbolic acid lay on the ground beside the dead man, and the burns about the mouth indicated that he had swallowed the deadly poison. Mountained Policeman Nolan notified the Coroner, and remained with the body until the arrival of Deputy Coroner Flynn, who took charge of the remains. -- Only Twenty-One -- TRENEAR, who was about 21 years of age, was neatly dressed and in his pockets were found a picture of a woman and several letters from his sister, Mrs. Kathryn McGEE of 21 East San Carlo street, San Jose. A card was also found showing that TRENEAR was a member of the Journeymen Bakers' and Confectioners' International Union, No. 24, of San Francisco, and that he had recently been employed at the bakery of John Gamma at Twenty-second and Alabama streets. The young man left his work at Gamma's bakery a week ago, and was last seen by his friend J. Kurtz on Thursday. Kurtz's sister Lottie said she feared he could commit suicide as he was despondent. She says she heard that he had said he would end his life, and to her questions as to the truth of the statement he denied having any such intention. He left no letter assigning a reason for his rash act -- His San Jose Relatives -- TRENEAR was raised in San Jose, and his home for years was with his mother at 30 East San Carlos street. He learned the bakers trade in this city, and up to a few months ago, he came down from San Francisco to visit his mother and appeared to be in good health and spirits. Besides his mother, heart-broken over the sad affair, he leaves three brothers, Robert and Harry, who reside in San Francisco, and J.R. TRENEAR, and three sisters, Mrs. E. McGEE, Mrs. BUTLER and Mrs. PEARCE, all living in San Jose. None of the family could ascertain any reason for the rash act, and all were prostrated by the receipt of the news. The body arrived from San Francisco yesterday afternoon." "URBANUS--ACCIDENTALLY SHOT--The following account of the accidental shooting of A.J. URBANUS, a Monterey merchant, is reproduced from the 'Cypress' of the 24th inst.: Albert J. URBANUS and Joaquin DIAZ on Sunday last started on a hunting trip to the Carmel, and when at SARGENT's gate, on the county road, Joaquin handed the shotgun, which he had been carrying, to [illeg] and got off the buggy to open the gate. When open, the horse started suddenly and URBANUS, while trying to stop the animal, allowed the gun to slip, the hammer striking on one of the iron rods of the seat and thus exploding the cartridge -- the charge striking URBANUS in the upper left arm. Luckily, however, the shot was a glancing one, otherwise the young man's arm would perhaps been blown off. He at once called to DIAZ that he had shot himself and had presence of mind enough to take off his coat and have his companion tie a handkerchief tight around the wound and thus stop the copious bleeding. They then secured a more comfortable conveyance from Mr. SARGENT's place (their vehicle being of what is called the spider pattern) and came to town as quickly as possible. He was taken to his store and Doctors HEINTZ and WESTFALL were called in to attend to him. They found the arm pretty badly perforated with shot, and after cleaning the wound they succeeded in extracting some of the shot, wadding and pieces of cloth, which considerably relieved the pain. The following day URBANUS was taken to the residence of his parents, the old JOSSELYN place, back of Del Monte, where he will await his recovery. Last Thursday evening the arm was badly swollen and the patient suffered greatly and Doctors EDWARDS and PARKER, of Salinas, were sent for. They arrived during the night and consulted with the attending physicians. At the present writing the young man is doing quite well, and no doubt he will rapidly recover the use of his arm. Today, URBANUS' condition is again worse, and it was decided to sent him to the German Hospital in San Francisco and Doctors HEINTZ and WESTFALL accompanied their patient to the city on this afternoon's train. Both doctors agreed that amputation of the arm was necessary, but did not like to assume the responsibility -- hence the young man's removal....Since the above has been put in type the sad news comes that Albert J. URBANUS died at the German Hospital in San Francisco last Saturday from the effects of his wound." "VAN NESS--DEATH OF JAMES VAN NESS - We regret to inform our readers that James VAN NESS died at San Luis Obispo on the 28th ultimo. As there is no telegraphic communication with the latter place, the sad intelligence reaches us in a telegram addressed for Frank McCOPPIN, from Santa Barbara. The deceased was born in Vermont, in 1809, and was in the 64th year of his age. He graduated in Vermont, practiced law in several of the Southern States, and came to California in 1850. He filled, at different times, several offices in our midst. He was Alderman, Mayor of the city, and, on the change of the charter, Recorder. In 1860 he settled in San Luis Obispo county, where he practiced his profession. His kindly demeanor made him hosts of friends in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, and he was elected Senator by a large majority in that district in 1871, by the Democratic party. His remains will be brought to this city for interment, his son Thomas and his daughter, Mrs. Frank McCOPPIN, desiring that he be buried here. No man deserved better of the people of San Francisco than the deceased gentleman, whose effects have given thousands of families a home. This great measure for the benefit of his fellow-citizens bears his name - it is the Van Ness Ordinance. After years of exertion it became a law, and now protects the poor man's homestead. Judge VAN NESS' father, Governor C.P. VAN NESS, was thrice elected Governor of Vermont. In 1829 General JACKSON appointed him Minister to Spain, which position he filled until 1838. On his return he was appointed Collector of the port of New York, which he held until 1841. Want of space prevents our giving a more extended notice of the deceased. He was a character of sterling purity, and his kindness of manner endeared him to all who knew him." Source: Sacramento Daily Union, 3 Jan 1873. Transcribed by Betty Loose.

"VOLMER--ATROCIOUS MURDER in San Francisco -- The San Francisco papers contain accounts of an atrocious murder committed in a brothel in that city, between 10 and 11 o'clock, Wednesday evening, 15th inst. A prostitute named Lizzie VOLMER was murdered by her paramour, named Henry VAPPNER. It appeared they had gone to a dance house together, and after returning to her room, they were heard quarreling, occasioned by his being jealous with her for having danced with another man. She thrust him out of doors for his complaining, but he managed to get in again, when he consummated the murder. The discovery of the deed is thus given by the San Francisco 'Telegram,' of Wednesday: Yesterday the house was closed all day, and about 10 o'clock last evening a friend of the murdered woman, by the name of Lizzy, called at the house, she having called several times before. Finding the door still locked she became suspicious that something was wrong, and she accordingly gave the alarm. The door was forced open by officer RAND, when a most horrible spectacle met his gaze. Before him, partly upon the floor and partly upon a trunk, at the foot of the bed, was the cold and lifeless body of the abandoned, hapless woman; near by, with his head resting upon one of her arm, was her miserable paramour, with his throat cut, covered with gore, and almost lifeless; by his side a razor and a lamp. The miserable murderer and would-be suicide, had strangled his victim by twisting his hand in a black velvet ribbon which the unfortunate woman wore around her neck as an ornament. The man was removed to the hospital, and the lifeless body of the woman was taken charge of by the Coroner. Evidences of intended robbery were found in the fact that all the things in the murdered woman's trunk were thrown confusedly around, and the mattresses were cut open. Upon the person of the murdered woman was found, in the bosom of her dress, a certificate of deposit for $800, she having deposited that amount of money 2 days previously. He probably thought she still had it. At last accounts the murderer was still living. He is represented as being 50 years of age." Source: Weekly Stockton Democrat, 20 Mar 1859. "WALDRON--Maggie WALDRON - "the first lady of San Francisco cuisine" - died in her Sausalito home Wednesday following a long illness. She was 67. Ms. WALDRON was an author of cookbooks, former food editor for McCall's magazine, a TV producer and food consultant who worked with more than 150 companies. Her most recent job was tracking culinary trends for Ketchum Public Relations Worldwide. She retired from that post in 1993, but continued her association with the company as a consultant. Examiner food writer Jim WOOD once described Ms. WALDRON as "one of the most respected and influential personages on the national food scene." WOOD said Ms. WALDRON was "credited with the culinary insight that it's OK for chefs to grow rich." The late food writer James BEARD wrote that Ms. WALDRON "is one of the most vital and amazing women to have worked her way to the top of the food business. She is far-seeing, her talents and knowledge are all-embracing, and she is intensely creative." She could write, too. WOOD also praised Ms. WALDRON's talents as a wordsmith. "What is sometimes overlooked by those in awe of her high culinary wattage is that WALDRON is a skilled cook and a gifted writer," he wrote. As an example, WOOD cited this paragraph from Ms. WALDRON's book of "comfort food" recipes, jokingly titled, "Cold Spaghetti at Midnight": "My nose almost always finds the exotic markets of the world long before my feet. That's because the fragrance of fruit overpowers everything else, including decaying vegetables and wet chicken feathers. You can smell a ripe mango 50 feet away. It's still possible to follow the old slave routes through Africa by following the trails of mango trees: The slaves cast aside the seeds as they trudged across the continent and lined those trails of tears with towering mango trees." In 1994, Ms. WALDRON became only the fourth person to receive the International Association of Culinary Professionals' Lifetime Achievement Award. Born Margaret GEHLERT in Fort Collins, Colo., Ms. WALDRON studied cooking and art in France, Italy, Hong Kong, Bangkok and several U.S. cities. She graduated in restaurant management from the Cornell School of Hotel Administration. She served on the boards of Meals on Wheels, the San Francisco Food Bank, the International Women's Forum, the American Institute of Wine and Food and the San Francisco Professional Food Society. Last year she served as a judge in the Healthy Menu Awards sponsored by Evian and Gourmet magazine. She is survived by her husband, Gene TEPPER, daughter Sara Leslie WALDRON STOTTS of Bremerton, Wash., and a granddaughter, Jessica. Plans for a memorial service are pending. Taste treat Several of Ms. WALDRON's recipes appeared in The Examiner. Here, from her "Cold Spaghetti" book, is a sample: Dutch Potatoes Heaven and Earth: 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 medium potatoes (about 1 pound) sliced 1/8 inch thick, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon poppy seeds, 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 2 small tart apples (about 4 ounces each), peeled and sliced 1/4 inch thick, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, Cinnamon (optional), Chopped parsley. 1. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Melt the butter in the oven in a shallow 2-quart baking dish. Add the potatoes, salt, poppy seeds and pepper to the dish, and toss to coat the potatoes with butter. Bake 30 minutes, tossing or stirring the potatoes twice. Meanwhile, toss the apple slices with the lemon juice in a bowl; set aside. 2. Add the apples to the potatoes and toss to mix. Continue to bake just until the apples are tender, about 10 minutes. Serve hot, dusted with cinnamon if desired, and sprinkled with parsley. Serves four." "WEBER--WEBER WILL GET ESTATE OF FATHER--SAN FRANCISCO, November 29 - Adolph WEBER who was convicted of killing his father in Auburn and is now in prison, pending an appeal from the death sentence, is to have the property left by his father, Julius WEBER, distributed to him. Judge W.W. MORROW yesterday denied the application for a perpetual injunction made by Christoph E.P. RIESENWEBER, a brother of the homicide's father, to restrain John ADAMS, the administrator of the estate, from giving the property to Adolph WEBER. RIESENWEBER says that his name is the proper family name, and based his petition for an injunction on the grounds that Adolph could not succeed to the estate because he is supposed to have committed the act which made himself sole heir, namely the murder of all the other heirs. So until Adolph WEBER pays for his alleged crime on the gallows, he will have the estate of his father, and as he will make a strong legal fight to escape the death penalty, RIESENWEBER, the next heir, will find no doubt that the amount of the property has been considerably diminished by lawyers' fees if his nephew is executed." "WHITING--BY STATE TELEGRAPH, San Francisco, Feb. 20 -- George WHITING, a native of Massachusetts, committed suicide about 9 o'clock this morning, by shooting himself through the head with a derringer pistol. When found he was lying upon his back, dead, his left hand holding a small mirror and his right hand grasping the weapon with which he killed himself. Appearances indicated that he had lain upon the bed, and holding up the mirror in order to see where to fire, had placed the pistol to his right temple and pulled the trigger. The ball went entirely through his head, with such force that it struck on the wall and fell back into the bed. He left a letter addressed to A.S. EVANS, of the 'Alta,' stating that he was perfectly sane and conscious of what he was doing, but had no desire to live longer." "WIGHTMAN--James WIGHTMAN of 3509 Seventeenth Street, killed himself last Wednesday night by asphyxiation with illuminating gas in the bathroom of his residence. He had been a widower for two years and grieved very much over the death of his wife. His despondency increased by the fact that he had not been able to secure employment since he went out on strike with the City Front Federation nearly a year ago. He had four children, the youngest whom is eight years old, and the eldest, Hattie, 19. When Hattie and her brother John discovered the odor of escaping gas at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, they traced it to the bathroom and found their father lying dead on the floor. The stopcock of the single gas burner was fully open. On his person was found the following note: Dear Hattie: I hope you will forgive me for this cruel deed as I cannot live the way things have been going against me. No matter how hard I try, misfortune seems to start in my way. I know it is cruel to leave you with all of the responsibility, but I cannot stand it any longer. "Hattie, remember your poor mother's last words to you, as she was good to all of us and may God help you to keep her wishes. You know who your friends are, and I hope you will get the insurance, which is in your name, as I know you will always look out for the little ones, and may God bless you all is the last wish of your loving father, - James WIGHTMAN" Source: San Francisco Call, 2 May 1902, page 8. shortly after one o'clock on Thursday afternoon.. The old pioneer had been nearing the confines of the other world for a number of years, and had long been weighed down by the infirmities of great age. He was eighty-seven years of age. The deceased was widely known and years ago occupied an influential position among the residents of the county at the time when he was taking an active interest in its business and financial affairs. He was a kindly old gentleman and never tired, during his last years, in greeting old friends upon the street, by talking with them of pioneer days in California, Sonoma county and Santa Rosa. Mr. WILLIAMS was a native of Detroit, Mich. He leaves five children. For many years prior to his death he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Fred G. NAGLE, wife of the county recorder. The other surviving children are George and Frank WILLIAMS of Freestone, James M. WILLIAMS and Mrs. T. H. BROWN of Stockton. Mr. WILLIAMS first came to California in 1850 and immediately went to the mines in Sierra county. In 1853 he went east and married and returned west immediately. In the fall of 1860 Mr. WILLIAMS came to Santa Rosa. In 1872 he was the first president of the board of Trustees of the City of Santa Rosa. This was before the city government was vested in a mayor and council. He started the first water works here, which was located on the Hahman tract, the water being developed from what was known as the Hahman Springs. He was at one time greatly interested in hydraulic mining. Mrs. WILLIAMS passed away in 1887. The name "Bridge" was applied to Mr. WILLIAMS on account of the fact that he once owned the block of property at Mendocino and Tenth streets and had a fine residence there. At the time a slough ran through the city and near the WILLIAMS house there was a bridge. There were three WILLIAMS families in Santa Rosa at the time and to distinguish Mr. J. M. WILLIAMS from the others he was known as "Bridge" WILLIAMS on account of the fact that he resided near the bridge. The deceased was a member of Santa Rosa Lodge, F. & A. M. For over half a century the deceased was a Mason, being probably the oldest Mason in the county, The funeral will take place under Masonic auspices on Monday at 1:30 o'clock either from Masonic Hall or the NAGLE residence." "WILLIAMS--BY TELEGRAPH TO THE UNION--SAN FRANCISCO, February 9th--Some of the crew of ship Wild Pigeon are circulating a story to the effect that during the late passage from China a sailor named John WILLIAMS fell from aloft and was killed; that the accident was in consequence of a dispute between two officers and the ship, one of whom let go a brace, throwing WILLIAMS from the yard-arm. No mention of the accident is made in the Captain's report. The crew also say that deceased was cast away in a whale ship before he joined the Wild Pigeon, and had a considerable sum of money coming to him in San Francisco. He was a native of Maine." in poor health for some time, suffering from a heart affliction. In February, 1928, while on a visit to New York, he was so low following an attack that his recovery was reported doubtful. Born in Ventura, WILLIAMS came to San Francisco to practice law soon after having been admitted to the bar. At the time of the fire in 1906 he was a deputy in the city attorney's office. Later he was attorney for Thomas Finn, when the latter was first made sheriff. WILLIAMS resigned that post in 1921, when he was appointed United States district attorney. He remained in that work until 1924. Since leaving the federal service WILLIAMS has devoted himself to his private practice as an associate of George BARRY, with offices in the Mills building. For many years he was general counsel for FOSTER & KIEISER and more recently has also been one of the attorneys for the San Francisco Bay Toll Bridge Company. Mrs. Alice WILLIAMS, his wife, was with him when he died. Funeral services will be held from the parlors of Barry & McDonnell, 766 Valencia street, at a date to be announced today. "WILLIAMS--Mrs. Rachel L. WILLIAMS, aged 61y, died at her home on Mendocino St., at an early hour Thursday morning, from the effects of a cancer in the breast. Her death was not unexpected. She had been a great sufferer for several months past from the dread disease which caused her death. She underwent one or two surgical operations, which afforded but temporary relief, the disease being too far advanced. Her sufferings were borne with a patience and rectitude, only possible, in a Christian spirit preparing to take its flight from this world of pain, and enter the presence of its maker. She, with her husband, was among the earliest settlers in Santa Rosa, locating here 25 years ago. "WILLIS--Called To Her Reward--Mrs. Maggie BEATTYWILLIS Ends a Life of Earnest Christian Work--The death of Mrs. Maggie BEATTYWILLIS, wife of O.P. WILLIS of this city, who passed away to her eternal rest at an early hour yesterday morning, was a beautiful ending to a beautiful Christian life. With perfect faith in the promises of her Savior and a clear knowledge that the shadow of the death angel's wing was creeping over her, she calmly bade family farewell, sank into sleep, her only regret being that she had left behind her work that she had hoped to finish. For many years Mrs. WILLIS had been the leading spirit in temperance work in this city, and held the position of County President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She was one of the organizers of the Children's Day Home, an institution in which she was always deeply interested, and there are many young girls in this locality to-day who owe their present happiness and good position in life to the aid of the kindly guiding hand of this lovely Christian woman. In speaking of her life work a few days since, Mrs. WILLIS said: "My only regret is that I must leave it unfinished, but I realize that the good work will continue, and the seed sown will become ripened grain. I was but a grain of sand in the glorious realm of high endeavor, and after I am gone someone will take up my share of the work and carry it on to a successful ending." Mrs. WILLIS was born in Kentucky, her family being prominent in the Blue Grass State. Mrs. WILLIS was a daughter of the late Judge H.O. BEATTY and sister of the present Chief Justice W.H. BEATTY of the Supreme Court. "WINSHIP--STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION -- The steam ferry boat, Contra Costa, exploded her boiler on Sunday morning last, whilst crossing the bar to enter Oakland. She was just from San Francisco, had been racing with another boat, the Oakland; hence, as is alleged, the disaster. We append a list of the killed, taken from the 'Alta,' of Monday, together with the number of the injured: List of the Killed -- The following is the list of those who are known to have been killed: -David W. CADY, a street contractor, formerly Deputy City Surveyor, aged 34 years, a native of New York. Mr. C. was blown into the air and fell into the water; he swam to the boat and was taken on board the Oakland, but died soon after. Michael G. SMITH, the barkeeper of the boat, was engaged in opening a basket of wine at the time of the explosion. The bar-room was entirely carried away, and the unfortunate man was never seen afterwards. It is rumored that a hand was subsequently found which, by a ring upon one of the fingers, was recognized as belonging to Mr. SMITH. Henry L. OSTRANDER, one of the crew, was dreadfully scalded and was brought to this city [San Francisco] and taken to the Marine Hospital, where he died soon after. Albert WINSHIP, one of the firemen, was dreadfully scalded, and taken on board the steamer Oakland and conveyed to the shore, where he died in a few minutes. George McDOWELL, the head fireman of the boat, a native of New Jersey, and a son of ex-Alderman McDOWELL, of Sacramento. His remains were brought to this city [San Francisco] on the wreck of the Contra Costa, but re-taken to Oakland for a Coroner's inquest. "WISEMAN--GONE TO HIS REST--Death and Burial of Joseph P. WISEMAN, a Native Son. After an illness of many months, Joseph P. WISEMAN, advertising solicitor of the Record-Union, died at the home of his mother in this city on Saturday morning. Mr. WISEMAN was a native of this city and a son of the Late Joseph WISEMAN. He was 33 years of age. Many years ago he had charge of the advertising department of the Bee, and subsequently was business manger of the San Francisco Post, when his uncle, John F. SHEEHAN, was the publisher of that paper. When the Post changed hands he went to Los Angeles, where he was placed in charge of the advertising department of one of the larger daily papers in that city, and later he filled the same position in San Diego. Returning to Sacramento a few years ago, Mr. WISEMAN became advertising solicitor for the Record-Union, which position he filled up to the time of his death. Deceased was a young man of superior business qualifications, especially in the line of his calling. He had hosts of friends wherever he resided, and the number of inquiries concerning his condition made daily during his illness attested to his popularity in this city. One of the marked traits of his character was his devotion to his widowed mother, to whom he gave all his time not required by his daily duties. Throughout his long illness he was un-complaining, and even when the last hope of recovery had to be abandoned he faced the inevitable without a murmur, and was cheerful to the last. The funeral of Mr. WISEMAN took place yesterday from the Cathedral, whither the body was escorted by the members of Sacramento Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, of which he was a member. Besides the members of the order there were present a large number of friends of the deceased and family . Rev. Father GRACE officiated at the services, at the conclusion of which he preached an eloquent and impressive sermon. During the service the choir sang the "Misero," the "Liveria" and "Over the Line." Many beautiful flower pieces were sent by sorrowing friends to decorate the casket and the grave. The members of Sacramento Parlor took charge of the arrangements for the funeral, which were well carried out. The pall-bearers were: D.J. LONG, George LOCKE, M. LAVENSON, R.E. GREER, Theodore G. EILERS, J.J. FITZGERALD and Abraham MOOSE." "WOLBERN--Jacob D.--ACCIDENTALLY KILLED--An Unknown Man Dragged to Death by an Engine Yard-engine No .2 of the Southern Pacific Railroad was running east on Channel street a few minutes after 6 o'clock last evening. When about forty feet east of Potrero avenue a sudden jar was experienced. The engine was stopped, and lying upon the west rail was found the dead body of a man, whose right arm had been cut off, his right leg crushed and his body about the loins and abdomen terribly mangled. About forty yards farther off from the place where the jar was felt were found a set of false teeth, a piece of carpet, which the deceased had evidently used as a cape to shield himself from the rain, a knife and pipe and other trifles. The supposition is that he was struck at this spot and being caught in the guard rail was dragged the remainder of the distance. Officer Thomas Stanton and Yardmaster Gill notified the police of the accident, and the remains were conveyed to the Morgue, where they now lie unidentified. The deceased had no teeth, and the false set undoubtedly were his. In his pockets were a number of the business cards of one Conrad Hildenbrand, a plumber on Sixteenth street. The deceased was about 35 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, and had the right thumb amputated at the first joint. When found the remains were attired in a black diagonal sack-coat and vest of the same material, dark pantaloons and overalls of grey stuff, rubber leggings and heavy boots. He is believed to have been a German, but it is positively known that he is not Hildenbrand." Source: San Francisco Call, 25 Dec 1880. Contact: Martha Richards maseattle@copper.net

WOLFSKILL, of Los Angeles, one of the oldest of the American pioneers of the State. He came to California as a hunter in 1831, and settled shortly after at Los Angeles, where he married and made his permanent home. He was a man of little education, but of much judgment, probity and industry. As a horticulturist he showed much enterprise, and all persons who have visited Los Angeles in the fall, remember with pleasure his large orchard and vineyard. It was he who first planted orange and walnut trees in considerable numbers in the State, and his vineyard was the largest in the limits of Los Angeles city. He leaves behind him many friends and no enemies." Source: Alta California, 5 Oct 1866, p. 2, c. 2. Contact: Pamela Storm pam@sfgenealogy.com
